FROM THE

LONDON GAZETTE of JANUARY 14,

1845.

At the Court at Windsor, the 13th day of December 1844,

PRESENT,

The QUEEN's Most Excellent Majesty in Council.

WHEREAS the Ecclesiastical Commissioners for England have, in pursuance of an Act, passed in the session of Parliament held in the sixth and seventh years of Her Majesty's reign, intituled "An Act to make better "provision for the spiritual care of populous "parishes," duly prepared and laid before Her Majesty in Council a scheme, bearing date the tenth day of December in the year one thousand eight hundred and forty-four, in the words following, that is to say :

"We, the Ecclesiastical Commissioners for England, in pursuance of an Act, passed in the session of Parliament held in the sixth and seventh years of your Majesty's reign, intituled "An Act to make better provision for the spiritual "care of populous parishes," have prepared, and now humbly lay before your Majesty in Council, the following scheme, for constituting a separate district for spiritual purposes out of the ancient parochial chapelry of Oldham, in the parish of Prestwich, in the county of Lancaster, and in the diocese of Chester.

" Whereas it is by the said Act enacted, that if at any time it shall be made to appear to us, that it would promote the interests of religion, that any part or parts of any parish or parishes, chapelry or chapelries, district or districts, of great extent, and containing a large population, and wherein, or in parts whereof, the provision for public worship and for pastoral superintendence is insufficient for the spiritual wants of the inhabitants thereof, or any extra-parochial place or places, or any part or parts thereof, should be constituted a separate district for spiritual purposes, it shall be lawful, by the authority in the same Act provided (that is to say, by a scheme prepared by us, and an Order issued by your Majesty in Council, ratifying such scheme), with the consent of the bishop of the diocese, under his hand and seal, to set out by metes and bounds, and constitute a separate district accordingly, such district not then containing within its limits any consecrated church or chapel in use for the purposes of divine worship, and to fix and declare the name of such district; and it is by the same Act provided, that the draft of any scheme for constituting any such district shall be delivered or transmitted to the incumbent and to the patron or patrons of the church or chapel of any parish, chapelry, or district, out of which it is recommended that any such district, or any part thereof, should be taken, in order that such incumbent, patron or patrons, may have an opportunity of offering or making to us, or to such bishop, any observations or objections upon or to the constituting of such district; and that such scheme shall not be laid before your Majesty in Council until after the expiration of one calendar month next after such copy shall have been so delivered or transmitted, unless such incumbent and patron or patrons shall, in the meantime, consent to the same; and it is by the same Act also provided, that in every such scheme for constituting any such district we shall recommend to your Majesty in Council, that the minister of such district, when duly licensed according to the same Act, shall be permanently endowed, under the provisions of the same Act, to an amount of not less than the annual value of one hundred pounds; and also, if such endowment be of less than the annual value of one hundred and fifty pounds, that the same shall be increased to such last-mentioned amount at the least, so soon as such district shall have become a new parish as thereinafter provided :

" And whereas the said chapelry of Oldham and the district of Shaw therein are respectively of great extent, and contain a large population, and the provision for public worship and for pastoral superintendence therein is insufficient for the spiritual wants of the inhabitants thereof; and it has been made to appear to us, that it would promote the interests of religion, that the particular part of such chapelry and district hereinaftermentioned and described, such part not at present containing within its limits any consecrated church or chapel in use for the purposes of divine worship, should be constituted a separate district in manner hereinafter set forth :

" Now, therefore, we humbly recommend and propose, with the consent of the Right Reverend John Bird Bishop of Chester, in testimony whereof he has signed and sealed this scheme, that all that part of the said district of Shaw, in the said chapelry of Oldham, described in the schedule hereunto annexed,—all which part, together with the boundaries thereof, is delineated and set forth in the map or plan hereunto also annexed,—shall be constituted a separate district for spiritual purposes accordingly; and that the same shall be named, "The District of East Crompton."

"And we further recommend and propose, that there shall be paid by us, in each and every year, to the minister for the time being of the district so recommended to be constituted, when duly licensed according to the said Act, the sum of one hundred pounds; and upon any building within such district, being duly licensed by the bishop of the diocese for the performance of divine service, according to the same Act, there shall be paid by us, in like manner, to such minister, the further sum of thirty pounds, making in the whole the sum of one hundred and thirty pounds; and that so soon as any church or chapel within such district shall have been duly approved by us, and consecrated as the church or chapel of such district, for the use and service of the minister and inhabitants thereof, and such district shall have thereupon become, according to the provisions of the same Act, a new parish for ecclesiastical purposes, there shall be paid by us, in each and every year, to the perpetual curate for the time being of such new parish, the sum of one hundred and fifty pounds; and that the said sum of one hundred pounds, one hundred and thirty pounds, or one hundred and fifty pounds, as the case may be, shall be paid, by equal half-yearly payments, on the first day of May and the first day of November in each and every year; and that the first such payment, or a proportionate part thereof, shall be made on the first day of May or of November next after the day of the date of the licence of such minister or of such building, or of the consecration of such church or chapel as aforesaid, as the case may be; and that in case a vacancy in the ministry or perpetual curacy of such district or new parish shall happen on any other day than the first day of May or the first day of November, the amount payable shall be duly apportioned between and paid to the minister or the perpetual curate making the vacancy, or his personal representative or representatives, and the minister or the perpetual curate succeeding to such district or new parish.

"And we further recommend and propose, that nothing herein contained shall prevent us from recommending and proposing any other measures relating to the matters aforesaid, or any of them, in accordance with the provisions of the said Act, or of any other Act of Parliament.

"SCHEDULE.

"The District of East Crompton, being

"All that part of the township of Crompton, in the district of Shaw, in the ancient parochial chapelry of Oldham, in the parish of Prestwich, in the county of Lancaster, and in the diocese of Chester, situate on the northern and north eastern sides of an imaginary line extending northward, from the point where the river Beale joins the boundary line between the said township of Crompton and the township of Oldham, in the said chapelry (marked a on the map or plan herewith), along the eastern bank of such river, as far as Beale-bridge (marked b as aforesaid), and thence towards the north west, along the middle of the road leading to Four-lane-ends, in Shaw (marked c as aforesaid), and continuing in the same direction along the middle of the road leading thence to Rochdale, through High Crompton, as far as the boundary of the said township of Crompton, at Burn Edge."

And whereas the draft of the said scheme has been transmitted to the incumbents and to the patrons of the churches or chapels of the parish, chapelry, and district out of which it is intended that the district therein recommended to be constituted shall be taken, pursuant to the provisions of the said Act, and such incumbents and the patron of the chapelry of Oldham and district of Shaw have consented to the said scheme; and one calendar month has expired since the draft thereof was so transmitted to the patron of the parish of Prestwich:

And whereas the said scheme has been approved by Her Majesty in Council; now, therefore, Her Majesty, by and with the advice of Her said Council, is pleased hereby to ratify the said scheme, and to order and direct that the same, and every part thereof, shall be effectual in law immediately from and after the time when this Order shall have been duly published in the London Gazette, pursuant to the said Act; and Her Majesty, by and with the like advice, is pleased hereby to direct that this Order be forthwith registered by the Registrar of the diocese of Chester.

Admiralty-Office.

By the Commissioners for executing the office of Lord High Admiral of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, &c.

Rules, Orders, and Regulations for the Preservation of Her Majesty's Moorings, and for the Mooring, Anchoring, and Placing of all private Ships of War, Transports, and all other private and Merchant Ships and Vessels, Lighters, Barges, Boats, and other Craft whatsoever, in Plymouth Sound, and in the Harbours of Hamoaze and Catwater, made and established pursuant to the Act of Parliament, passed in the fifty-fourth year of the reign of His late Majesty King George the Third, chap. 159, intituled "An Act for the better Regulation of the several Ports, Harbours, Roadsteads, Sounds, Channels, Bays, and navigable Rivers in the United Kingdom, and of His Majesty's Docks, Dock-yards, Arsenals, Wharfs, Moorings, and Stores therein, and for repealing several Acts passed for that purpose."

As to Plymouth Sound.

Art. I. All Her Majesty's ships and vessels of war are exclusively to occupy the outer anchorage in Plymouth Sound, within and near the Breakwater.

Art. II. All merchant and other private ships and vessels, of every description, are hereby ordered to occupy the inner anchorage in the Sound, within a space bounded by the following marks and lines, viz.:

To the northward of a line supposed to be drawn from Ram Cliff Point, towards the west.

To the southward of another line supposed to be drawn from Mount Edgcumbe House, through the Canteen on Drakes Island, to the eastern shore of Plymouth Sound.

To the eastward of another line supposed to be drawn from the east end of Windsor-terrace, in the town of Plymouth, to the Obelisk on the Hoe, and continued through the white-washed seamark on the rocks, to the before-mentioned line supposed to be drawn from the Ram Cliff Point, towards the west.

The object of this arrangement is, that a sufficient navigable channel may be kept open over the hard and foul ground on the west side of this anchorage, and no ship or vessel whatever shall be anchored or placed in the said navigable channel, under pain of the penalties prescribed by the said Act of Parliament.

As to Hamoaze.

Art. I. It is hereby ordered, that no owner, master, or other commanding officer of any private ship of war, transport, or other private or merchant ship or vessel, lighter, barge, boat, or other craft, nor any pilot or other person employed by either of them, shall anchor or moor, or cause to be anchored or moored, any such private ship of war, transport, or other private ship or vessel, lighter, barge, boat, or other craft, in the fair way or channel between the Queen's moorings in the said harbour or in Barnpool, within fifty fathoms of the centres of any of the said moorings, or of Her Majesty's ships, floating magazines, and hulks, lying thereat, or in the front or abreast of Her Majesty's docks, dock-yard, or gun-wharf, and between the same and the eastern line of hulks, or even to drop an anchor within such space and situations, except in case of necessity to prevent damage to herself, or that of the Queen's ships which may be at the contiguous mooring, and then to remove as soon as possible thereafter; except also in cases where any of the said ships, vessels, or craft, may be consigned to the dock-yard or gun-wharf, and must, therefore, necessarily anchor contiguous thereto, till they can come to the cranes and wharfs for delivery of their cargoes, and then to be placed in such situations as the Superintendent of Her Majesty's dock-yard at Devonport, or the Masters Attendant, or Queen's pilots by whom they are conducted, shall direct.

Nor shall any private ship of war, transport, or other private or merchant ship or vessel, lighter, barge, boat, or other craft, be anchored or moored, between the island and main, at a less distance than fifty fathoms to the southward of the transporting buoy within the said island, or in any place off the east end of the island near the buoy of the Asia shoal, or between it and the buoy of the Winter, or near the fair way or outer transporting buoy in the Sound; neither shall any be made fast to, or be moored, or secured by any of the mooring anchors, or chains to which access can be had when the tide is out, either on the eastern or western shore of the said harbour of Hamoaze, or be made fast to any of the buoys or piles of Her Majesty within the said harbour, in the fronts of the said docks, dock-yard, or gun-wharf, or other premises belonging to them respectively, nor anchor or moor so as to swing within any of the said buoys or piles, upon pain of the penalties for such offences as the said Act of Parliament directs.

Nor under pain of the penalties before referred to, shall any private ship of war, transport, or other private ship or vessel, lighter, barge, boat, or other craft, be anchored or moored in any place or places within the port of Hamoaze, except on the eastern side of Stonehouse-pool, and in extent not coming further to the westward than the Queen's Slaughter-house, and in that range to the northward, at the mouth or entrance to Millbrook-lake, or to the northward of all Her Majesty's moorings.—This restriction, in regard to the anchorage of merchant ships, transports, &c. is, however, not intended to exclude such as, trading to the port, must necessarily have admission to the several wharfs, docks, &c. at Mutton-cove, North-corner, New-passage, and elsewhere, for loading and unloading their cargoes, and which are generally grounded for such purposes; but all such merchant ships, vessels, lighters, barges, boats, or other craft, are to continue to enjoy their accustomed privileges in this respect, in as full and effectual a manner as if these regulations had not taken effect.

Art. II. All private ships of war, transports, and other private ships or vessels, lighters, barges, boats, and other craft, are hereby expressly prohibited, under the penalties of the said Act, from being breamed in any part of the said harbour of Hamoaze, except on the shores of Stonehouse-pool aforesaid, at Frank's Quarry, or to the northward of the Queen's moorings; and from coming or entering into the said harbour, being laden with, or having on board, any quantity of gunpowder, exceeding five pounds weight in the whole. And all such gunpowder is hereby appointed to be left and deposited at a depôt established for that purpose on St. Nicholas's Island, at the entrance of the said harbour, where the same will be taken and received according to the provisions of the said Act.

Art. III. And it is hereby ordered, that no person or persons shall take any ballast or shingle from the shores or banks, or any portion of the shores or banks, of the port and harbour of Hamoaze, on any account or pretence whatsoever, without being duly authorized by us, or other sufficient authority of Her Majesty's Government, upon pain of the penalties in the said Act mentioned; observing, however, that this regulation is not meant to restrict the raising of the sea sand for agricultural or other purposes, in the shoal water to the northward of St. Nicholas's Island aforesaid, by the barges and craft which have hitherto been employed thereon, or any other.

As to Catwater.

Art. I. All fore and aft rigged vessels, taking shelter in Catwater and drawing less than eleven feet of water, are either to anchor on the flat in Clovelly Bay, or above Turnchapel Rock; and they are also required to place buoys on their anchors, and to moor with a kedge.

Art. II. Ships and vessels, drawing eleven feet of water and upwards, and less than sixteen feet, are to moor upon the flat between Turnchapel Rock and Mount Batten. Large ships, drawing sixteen feet of water and upwards, are to moor in tiers below and above Turnchapel Rock, with their stern cables made fast to the shore, and their jib-booms rigged in.

Art. III. An open passage, of not less than fifty fathoms in width, on the north side of the harbour, is to be kept clear for the navigation of ships and vessels from the entrance of Catwater, up towards the Bear's Head and Turnchapel Rock, and as far as Her Majesty's Breakwater Establishment at Oreston, and no ship or vessel whatever shall anchor in or obstruct this passage, under pain of the penalties directed to be inflicted by the said Act of Parliament.

Art. IV. Vessels frequenting the port of Plymouth, and anchoring in Deadman's-bay, are to leave a clear passage, of fifty fathoms at the least, open between them and the sailing vessels occupying the south side of the harbour.

Given under our hands the 4th day of January 1845,

G. COCKBURN.
W. GORDON.

To all whom it may concern,
By command of their Lordships,
John Barrow.

Buckingham-Palace, February 4, 1845.

THIS day Her Majesty, accompanied by His Royal Highness Prince Albert, proceeded in state from Buckingham-Palace to the House of Peers, where she arrived soon after two o'clock; and was received, on alighting from her state coach, by the Lord Chancellor, the Lord President of the Council, the Lord Privy Seal, Sir Augustus Clifford, Bart. C. B. Deputy Great Chamberlain (in the absence of the Lord Willoughby d'Eresby), the Earl Marshal, the Lord Steward of the Household, the Duke of Wellington, Garter King of Arms, and the Yeoman Usher of the Black Rod, and proceeded to the robing-room in the customary manner.

Her Majesty was there robed, and the procession moved into the House in the usual order;—the sword of state was borne by the Duke of Wellington, and the cap of maintenance by the Marquess of Winchester.

My Lords, and Gentlemen,

I REJOICE that I am enabled, on again meeting you in Parliament, to congratulate you on the improved condition of the country.

Increased activity pervades almost every branch of manufacture; trade and commerce have been extended at home and abroad; and among all classes of my people there is generally prevalent a spirit of loyalty and cheerful obedience to the law.

I continue to receive from all Foreign Powers and States assurances of their friendly disposition.

I have had much satisfaction in receiving at my Court the Sovereigns who in the course of the last year visited this country.

The journey of the Emperor of Russia, undertaken at a great sacrifice of private convenience, was a proof of the friendship of His Imperial Majesty most acceptable to my feelings.

The opportunity of personal intercourse thus afforded to me may, I hope, be the means of still further improving those amicable relations which have long existed between Great Britain and Russia.

The visit of the King of the French was rendered especially welcome to me, inasmuch as it had been preceded by discussions which might have impaired the good understanding happily established between the two countries.

I regard the maintenance of this good understanding as essential to the best interests of both; and I rejoiced to witness that the sentiments so cordially expressed by all classes of my subjects on the occasion of His Majesty's visit were entirely in unison with my own.

Gentlemen of the House of Commons,

The estimates for the ensuing year have been prepared, and will forthwith be laid before you.

The progress of steam navigation, and the demands for protection to the extended commerce of the country, will occasion an increase in the estimates connected with the Naval Service.

My Lords, and Gentlemen,

I have observed, with sincere satisfaction, that the improvement which is manifest in other parts of the country has extended to Ireland.

The political agitation and excitement which I have had heretofore occasion to lament appear to have gradually abated, and, as a natural result, private capital has been more freely applied to useful public enterprizes, undertaken through the friendly co-operation of individuals interested in the welfare of Ireland.

I have carried into effect, in the spirit in which it was conceived, the Act for the more effectual application of charitable donations and bequests.

I recommend to your favourable consideration the policy of improving and extending the opportunities for academical education in Ireland.

The report of the Commission appointed to inquire into the law and practice in respect to the occupation of land is nearly prepared, and shall be communicated to you immediately after its presentation.

The state of the law in regard to the privileges of the Bank of Ireland, and to other banking establishments in that country, and in Scotland, will no doubt occupy your attention.

The health of the inhabitants of large towns and populous districts in this part of the United Kingdom has been the subject of recent inquiry before a Commission, the report of which shall be immediately laid before you.

It will be highly gratifying to me if the information and suggestions contained in that report shall enable you to devise the means of promoting the health and comfort of the poorer classes of my subjects.

I congratulate you on the success of the measures which three years since were adopted by Parliament for the purpose of supplying the deficiency in the public revenue, and arresting the accumulation of debt in the time of peace.

The Act which was passed at that time for imposing a tax upon income will shortly expire.

It will be for you, in your wisdom, to determine whether it may not be expedient to continue its operation for a further period, and thus to obtain the means of adequately providing for the public service, and at the same time of making a reduction in other taxation.

Whatever may be the result of your deliberations in this respect, I feel assured that it will be your determination to maintain an amount of revenue amply sufficient to meet the necessary expenditure of the country, and firmly to uphold that public credit which is indispensible to the national welfare.

The prospect of continued peace, and the general state of domestic prosperity and tranquillity, afford a favourable opportunity for the consideration of the important matters to which I have directed your attention; and I commit them to your deliberation, with the earnest prayer that you may be enabled, under the superintending care and protection of Divine Providence, to strengthen the feelings of mutual confidence and good will between different classes of my subjects, and to improve the condition of my people.

At the Court at Buckingham-Palace, the 5th day of February 1845,

PRESENT,

The QUEEN's Most Excellent Majesty in Council.

THIS day the Right Honourable Sir George Clerk, Bart. was, by Her Majesty's command, sworn of Her Majesty's Most Honourable Privy Council, and took his place at the Board accordingly.

Her Majesty in Council was this day pleased to appoint the Right Honourable James Earl of Dalhousie, and in his absence the Right Honourable Sir George Clerk, Bart. President of the Committee of Council appointed for the consideration of all matters relating to Trade and Foreign Plantations.

At the Court at Buckingham-Palace, the 3d day of February 1845,

PRESENT,

The QUEEN's Most Excellent Majesty in Council.

WHEREAS by an Order in Council, bearing date the third day of September last past, reciting, that, by an Order in Council, dated the fourth day of December one thousand eight hundred and thirty-five, reciting therein, among other things, an Act, passed in the sixth year of His late Majesty's reign, intituled " An Act to " provide for the regulation of municipal cor- " porations in England and Wales;" and further reciting, that Nathaniel Richard Clarke, Esq. and

Richard Wildman, Esq. the barristers appointed pursuant to the provisions of the said Act, to revise the burgess' and councillors' list of the city of Lincoln, in the then present year (the said city of Lincoln being one of the boroughs included in schedule A), did, within sixty days after the passing of the said Act, in due manner, determine and set out the extent, limits, and boundary lines of the wards of the said borough, according to the provisions of the said Act, and what portion of the said borough should be included therein respectively; and the said barristers, after the division of such borough into such number of wards as is directed by the said Act, and within the said period of sixty days, did, in due manner, apportion among the several wards of such borough the number of councillors mentioned in conjunction with the name of such borough in the said schedule, and the said barristers had duly transmitted a copy of the particulars of the number of councillors so assigned to the several wards of the said borough to one of His Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, in the words following, that was to say:

"City of Lincoln.

"We, Nathaniel Richard Clarke and Richard Wildman, being the barristers appointed by virtue of the Statute of the fifth and sixth of His present Majesty, intituled "An Act to provide for the "regulation of municipal corporations in England and Wales," to revise the lists of the citizens of the city of Lincoln, do, by virtue of such appointment, hereby divide the said city into two wards, to be called the Minster Ward and Bridge Ward, respectively, and do hereby determine and set out the extent, limit, and boundary lines of the said wards, and the portions of the said city to be included therein, respectively, as follows, that is to say:

" The Minster Ward shall comprise and consist of the parishes and places under mentioned, that is to say, Saint John, Newport; Saint Nicholas; Saint Paul; Saint Mary Magdalene; Saint Margaret, with the Palace-precinct; Saint Peter, in Eastgate; Saint Michael; and Saint Martin :

" And the said ward, to be called the Bridge Ward, shall consist of the parishes and places under mentioned, that is to say, Saint Peter, at Arches; Saint Swithin; the Liberty of the Monks; Saint Benedict; Saint Mary le Wigford; Saint Mark; Saint Peter, at Gowts; and Saint Botolph; and we do hereby apportion nine councillors to each of the said wards; and further reciting, that the division and assignment so made by the said barristers appeared to be, in certain particulars, liable to objection; therefore His Majesty, by advice of His Privy Council, did thereby disapprove of such determination of the said barristers, and of the number of councillors so assigned to each ward of the said city; but, nevertheless, His Majesty, by the advice aforesaid, did order that the particulars of the divison and assignment so made by the said barristers should be published in the London Gazette, in order that such force and validity might be given thereto as is authorised and directed by the said Act. And such first-mentioned Order further recited, that it was deemed expedient to remove the objection which existed to the said division and assignment so made by the said barristers, who were thereupon directed to determine and set out afresh the extent, limits, and boundary lines of the said wards into which it is provided by the said Act that certain boroughs should be divided, and especially as to the said city of Lincoln; and further reciting, that the said Nathaniel Richard Clarke and Richard Wildman, the said barristers appointed in pursuance of the provisions of the said Act, had determined and set out afresh the extent, limits, and boundary lines of the several wards into which it was expedient that the said city of Lincoln should be divided, and the town councillors thereof; and the said barristers had duly transmitted a report of the particulars of the number of councillors so reassigned to the several wards, in the words following:

" We, Nathaniel Richard Clarke and Richard Wildman, being the barristers appointed by virtue of the Statute of the fifth and sixth of His late Majesty King William the Fourth, intituled ' An ' Act to provide for the regulation of the municipal corporations in England and Wales,' to revise the list of citizens of the city of Lincoln, having, by virtue of such appointment, divided the said city into two wards, and such division not having been approved of by His said late Majesty, and we having been duly required further to consider and inquire into the circumstances, do, upon such further inquiry and consideration, humbly report to Her Majesty the Queen, that it will be expedient to divide, and we do, therefore, hereby divide, the said city into three wards, to be called the Upper Ward, the Middle Ward, and the Lower Ward, respectively, and do hereby determine and set out the extent, limits, and boundary lines of the said wards, and the portion of the said city to be included therein respectively, as follows, that is to say:

" The Upper Ward to consist of the parishes of Saint Paul; Saint Mary Magdalene; and Saint Margaret, with the Palace-precinct, in the Bail and Close; and Saint John, in Newport; Saint Nicholas, in Newport; Saint Peter, in Eastgate; and Saint Michael:

" And the Middle Ward to consist of the parishes of Saint Martin, Saint Swithin, and the liberty of the Monks:

" And the Lower Ward to consist of the parishes of Saint Peter, at Arches; Saint Benedict; Saint Mary le Wigford; Saint Mark; Saint Peter, at Gowts; and Saint Botolph :

" And we do hereby apportion six councillors to each of the said wards :

" And we recommend the under-mentioned councillors to be assigned to the under-mentioned wards, respectively, that is to say, John East, Joseph George Doughty, Thomas Newton, Charles Ward, Henry Williams, and Robert Swan, to the Upper Ward; John Sharpe, William Parry, Robert Dawber, Michael Penistan, William Marshall, Edward William Rudgard Rudgard, to the Middle Ward; and Thomas Michael Keyworth, Richard Sutton Harvey, Richard Whitton, John Key, George Calder, and Anselm Odling, to the Lower Ward :

" As witness our hands this thirty-first day of August one thousand eight hundred and forty-four, (Signed) " N. R. Clarke.

" Richard Wildman."

And Her Majesty, by the advice of Her Privy Council, did thereby approve of the proposed alteration and re-division of the said wards, and of the number of councillors re-assigned to each, respectively, as set forth and recommended in the last above-mentioned report of the said barristers, and did order the same to be published in the London Gazette accordingly.

And whereas by a further Order in Council, bearing date the seventh day of October last, whereby it was ordered, that the last hereinbefore-recited Order, of the third day of September last, should be revoked and annulled, and which Order of revocation was published in the London

Gazette; and whereas it hath been deemed expedient, that the said report of the said barristers should be, and the same hath been, duly referred again to them for reconsideration, and the said barristers have transmitted a report in the words and figures following :

" We, Nathaniel Richard Clarke and Richard Wildman, being the barristers appointed by virtue of the Statute of the fifth and sixth of His late Majesty King William the Fourth, intituled ' An Act to provide for the regulation of ' municipal corporations in England and Wales,' to revise the lists of citizens of the city of Lincoln, having, by virtue of such appointment, divided the said city into two wards, and such division not having been approved of by His said late Majesty, and we having been duly required further to consider and enquire into the circumstances, do, upon such further enquiry and consideration, humbly report to Her Majesty the Queen, that it will be expedient to divide, and we do, therefore, hereby divide, the said city into three wards, to be called the Upper Ward, the Middle Ward, and the Lower Ward, respectively, and do hereby determine and set out the extent, limits, and boundary lines of the said wards, and the portions of the said city to be included therein respectively as follows, that is to say, the Upper Ward to consist of the parishes of Saint Paul; Saint Mary Magdalen; and Saint Margaret, with the Palace-precinct, in the Bail and Close; and Saint John, in Newport; Saint Nicholas, in Newport; Saint Peter, in Eastgate; and Saint Michael; and the Middle Ward to consist of the parishes of Saint Martin, Saint Swithin, and the liberty of the Monks; and the Lower Ward to consist of the parishes of Saint Peter, at Arches; Saint Benedict; Saint Mary le Wigford; Saint Mark; Saint Peter, at Gowts; and Saint Botolph and we do hereby apportion six councillors to each of the said wards; and we recommend that, on the twenty-eighth day of February next, the undermentioned councillors be assigned to the undermentioned wards, respectively, that is to say, Charles Ward, Robert Dawber, Henry Williams, Robert Sharp, Richard Carline, and Thomas Michael Keyworth, to the Upper Ward; Michael Penistan, Thomas Newton, Edward William Rudgard Rudgard, William Marshall, John Shaw, and William Cook Norton, to the Middle Ward; and Richard Whitton, William Andrew, Anselm Odling, George Calder, Richard Sutton Harvey, and John Richard Battle, to the Lower Ward.

"We approve and adopt this report as now amended.

"As witness our hands this thirty-first day of January one thousand eight hundred and forty-five,

"Richard Wildman."

Now, therefore, Her Majesty, by the advice of Her Privy Council, doth hereby approve of the said alteration and re-division of the said wards, and of the number of councillors re-assigned to each respectively, as set forth and recommended in the above-amended report of the said barristers, and doth hereby order the same to be published in the London Gazette accordingly.

India Board, May 19, 1845.

A DISPATCH, from which the following is an extract, has been received at the East India House:

Major-General Sir Charles Napier, G.C.B. to the Governor-General of India.

Head-Quarters, Camp, Shahpoor, January 17, 1845.

[Extract.]

IN the course of the latter part of last summer, I reported to you how this frontier had been vexed by the unprovoked attacks made upon Sinde by the Doomkee, Jakraine, and Boogtie tribes. These plunderers had, of late, become more harassing to the frontier posts. They are, as you are aware, subjects to the Khan of Kelat, but are in open rebellion against him. A few weeks ago his Highness attempted to reduce them to obedience. His Highness's wishes are completely with us, and his personal conduct has been honourable. However, he was unable to effect his purpose; he had advanced as far as Poolajee, but retired discomfited, followed up by the rebel Beejar Khan to Bhag, which has been plundered. Where the Khan has retired to I do not, at present, know; I suppose to Dadur.

On the 13th instant, I left Sukkur with the head-quarters: on the same day, Captain Jacob marched with the Sinde horse and camel corps from Larkhana. Wallee Mahomed, the Chandia chief, with several other chiefs of Belooch tribes, marched, on the 15th, from their various villages; and, on the 16th, Wallee Mahomed, according to the orders which he had received from me, took possession of Poolajee, which was abandoned by the enemy. On the same day, Captain Jacob attacked and took Shahpoor; and, at the same day and hour, Captain Salter attacked Ooch, a post ten miles to the east of Shahpoor. Both of these places are in the midst of the Desert, and the enemy was surprised at both. At both resistance was made, and at Ooch about 3500 head of cattle were taken, the produce of their late plundering expeditions. Among the rest are the tattoos of the grass cutters, belonging to the 6th irregular cavalry, and taken when those unfortunate men were cut to pieces last summer.

Having made forced marches of 120 miles in three days, to surprise the enemy (the last march made by head-quarters and by Captain Mowat with one six-pounder and one howitzer, being fifty-six miles within twenty-four hours, through a desert of sand), I shall halt here for a day or two to rest the troops, and allow our supplies to overtake us.

In forwarding the reports of Captains Salter and Jacob, I beg to draw your attention to the decisive courage, activity, and success with which these two Officers have executed the orders they received, and to the good humour with which the troops have made these harassing marches in the Desert. Wallee Mahomed, the Chandia chief, has also shewn the greatest zeal and activity, arriving at the point he was ordered, and with the greatest accuracy as to time; it was that point, too, at which most resistance was contemplated.

The 2d Europeans are on their march from Sukkur to this place, under Major-General Hunter, together with some of the 64th and 4th regiments of native infantry, whose ardent wish to take the field, I thought it fair to these regiments to comply with under existing circumstances.

The Bundlecund legion crossed the Indus on the 16th, under Major-General Simpson, and is following the route of Major-General Hunter.

Tomorrow every outlet from the hills will be blocked up by the cavalry; and I hope to inflict another lesson upon the plundering tribes.

P.S.—Since writing the above, some men have been captured who were in the fight at Ooch; from these we have learned that about forty-five were wounded, and forty killed; among the former is Deria Khan, the chief of the Jakrainees. He received a grape shot in his breast, and was dying. There were 700 men; they thought they had to deal with Wallee Mahomed Chandia, and were not aware we were there till the artillery opened. They had drawn up in battle array to fight, when Captain Salter charged.

Captain G. Salter, 4th N. I. commanding the Detachment, to Major Green, C.B. Assistant-Adjutant-General, Sinde.

Head-Quarters, Camp, Ooch,
SIR, January 16, 1845.

I HAVE the honour to report, for the information of Major-General Sir C. Napier, G.C.B. that I had, last night, the good fortune to execute, successfully, his orders for surprising the encampment of the Belooch marauders, at Ooch, with the detachment, as per margin,* under my command.

After a march of forty miles from Khanghur, we reached Ooch, at eleven P.M.; the cavalry charged down upon the encampment, and did some execution, but from the hilly nature of the country they could not repeat the charge with effect after the first surprise, as the enemy immediately took to the surrounding low, but very steep, hills, and commenced firing with their matchlocks.

In the darkness of the night no just estimate could be formed of the number of the enemy, but they are reported to have been about 500 men, chiefly Jakrainees and Boordees.

Of these there were killed, Sowla, Jakrainee, the brother of Toochally, a principal chief of the marauders, and his two sons; and Deldar Khan, the son of Khyra Khan, a Boordee chief; some other noted marauders were killed or wounded, in all about sixty men.

Three thousand five hundred head of camels, cattle, sheep, and goats, the accumulated plunder of the robbers, were taken, and a quantity of grain; and the deserted encampment was burnt the next morning.

I beg to report, that Lieutenant Holmes, commanding the 6th irregular cavalry, set his men a most gallant example, his own horse was wounded, and his orderly's killed; and Lieutenant Pulman, commanding the two guns, served them with quickness, precision, and effect.

Mahomed Buksh, Naib Ressaldar, commanding the troop 9th irregular cavalry, an excellent Officer, killed the Boordee chief in my presence, who had just cut down and killed my orderly's horse.

I have the honour to enclose a return of the killed and wounded of the detachment, and regret that, in Azim Beg, Ressaldar, 6th irregular cavalry, the corps has lost a brave and valuable Officer, and the Government an old and faithful servant, who had lately the honour to be favourably noticed in General Orders.

I have, &c.

G. SALTER, Captain 4th N. I. Commanding the Detachment.

Return of Killed and Wounded of a Detachment, under the Command of Captain Salter, at Ooch, on the 15th January 1845.

Detachment of Artillery—none killed or wounded.
6th Irregular Cavalry—1 ressaldar, 2 horses, killed; 6 sowars, 7 horses, wounded.
9th Irregular Cavalry—1 sowar, 1 horse, killed; 4 horses wounded.
Grand Total of Killed and Wounded—8 men, 13 horses.

Remarks.

Azim Beg, ressaldar, 6th irregular cavalry, wounded, and has since died.

Captain J. Jacob, Commanding Sinde Irregular Horse, to Major Green, C.B. Assistant-Adjutant-General.

SIR, Shahpoor, January 18, 1845.

I HAVE the honour to report that, on the morning of the 13th instant, I marched from Larkanah with the camel corps, European volunteers, two three pounder guns on camels, and the Sinde irregular horse. We reached Khyra-ke-Gurree, distant 40 miles, the same evening; found the supply of water at that place insufficient, even for the whole of the men of my detachment; the horses and camels got none. On the morning of the 14th we marched to Rojan, 24 miles, and arrived there at noon; the supply of water at that place was altogether insufficient for the detachment, and men and horses were much distressed in consequence. According to orders I sent the camel corps and volunteers to Khanghur, and at noon, on the 15th, I marched with the Sinde horse and two three-pounder guns towards Shahpoor, leaving nine of our horses behind, in a dying state, from thirst.

I reached Lunda (distant thirty-five miles from Rojan, and about two from Shahpoor) at half past eleven at night, and there received information that Wuzzeer Khan (son of Beejar Khan Doomkee) was at Shahpoor with a large party of Jakrainees, Doomkees, and Boordees. I pushed on at a trot, and completely surrounded the village of Shahpoor before the alarm was given, or before any one could escape; and, knowing the place well, I at once galloped into a sort of enclosure on one side of the village where the Jakrainee horsemen usually resided; there was, however, no one there but a number of juts and herdsmen ; the enemy had that night occupied the houses inside the village, and now opened a heavy fire of matchlocks on us from a high tower and from the houses.

I immediately picketed a troop, and took the men into the village on foot, when all opposition ceased, and the robbers were only anxious to hide their arms. I seized sixty-two prisoners (well armed, and whose matchlocks had nearly all been used that night), Jakrainees, Doomkees, and Boordees, among whom are several Sirdars ; but Wuzzeer Khan, hearing the report of guns fired at Ooch, about half an hour before we reached Shahpoor, had instantly mounted his horse and escaped. I believe not a man left the village after our arrival, although a tremendous dust storm, which arose just as we reached the place, rendered it very difficult to watch the place properly.

The fire from the village killed a duffedar, two sowars, and three horses, and wounded three sowars and five horses. All my men behaved well in this affair; and I request that you will particularly bring to notice the excellent conduct of my second in command, Lieutenant G. Malcolm, from whom I received the most able support and assistance; of Resseldar Major Sir Feraz Khan, and Resseldar Meer Furzund Ali; the last-named Officer commanded the troop which I led into the village on foot.

The Police Resseldar Alif Khan accompanied me from Larkanah, and his services were most valuable to me on this occasion, as well as during the whole march.

I must not omit to mention Assistant-Surgeon Pelly, who accompanied me while I was surrounding the village, and attended the wounded men the instant they fell.

J. JACOB, Captain Artillery,

And two private Acts.

Whitehall, May 23, 1845.

The Queen, taking into Her royal consideration that, upon the decease of George-Harry late Earl of Stamford and Warrington, the titles and dignities of Earl of Stamford and Warrington devolved upon his grandson and heir, George-Harry now Earl of Stamford and Warrington (a minor), as the only son and heir of the late George-Harry, who was summoned to Parliament as Baron Grey of Groby, whilst living the son and heir apparent of the said George-Harry Earl of Stamford and Warrington, lately deceased, and that, according to the ordinary rules of honour, the sister of the said George-Harry now Earl of Stamford and Warrington cannot enjoy that place and precedence which would have been due to her in case her said late father, the said George-Harry Baron Grey of Groby, had survived his father, the said George-Harry late Earl of Stamford and Warrington, and had thereby succeeded to the titles and dignities of Earl of Stamford and Warrington, Her Majesty has been pleased to ordain and declare, that Margaret-Henrietta-Maria Grey (a minor), the only sister of the said George-Harry now Earl of Stamford and Warrington, shall henceforth have, hold, and enjoy the same title, place, pre-eminence, and precedence as if her said late father had succeeded to the said titles and dignities of Earl of Stamford and Warrington :

And Her Majesty has been further pleased to command, that the said royal order and declaration be registered in Her Majesty's College of Arms.

FROM THE

LONDON GAZETTE of MAY 27, 1845.

India Board, May 24, 1845.

A DISPATCH, from which the following is an extract, has been this day received at the India House :

The Governor-General of India in Council to the Secret Committee of the East India Company.

Fort William, April 7, 1845.

[Extract.]

WE have the honour to transmit the accompanying copy of dispatches, from Major-General Sir Charles Napier, G.C.B. reporting the successful termination of the campaign against the mountain desert tribes, on the right bank of the Indus.

We also submit a copy of the General Order issued on this occasion, and we feel assured that you will fully concur with us in the high opinion we have expressed of these able and important operations.

Government Notification.

Fort William, Foreign Department, March 29, 1845.

THE Governor-General in Council has the greatest satisfaction in announcing to the army the complete success of the operations of Major-General Sir Charles Napier, G. C. B., against the mountain desert tribes on the right bank of the Indus to the north of Shikarpoor. Extracts from his Excellency's dispatches are published for general information.

An operation of this nature demanded, on the part of the General, the utmost prudence, skill, and foresight, and, on the part of the troops, the greatest fortitude in enduring the fatigues and privations to which they were exposed.

These qualities, which prove the merit of a commander and the discipline of the troops, have been displayed by both with characteristic energy. Every officer and man in this short but arduous campaign has shown that there are no difficulties which discipline cannot surmount under able guidance.

In some instances the marches performed by infantry and artillery have been so remarkable that the Governor-General in Council has called upon the Major-General to transmit the details of his arrangements, in order that the record may be preserved for the information of the service.

The chastisement which these robber tribes have received will convince them, that they can no longer depend upon their mountain fastnesses for security, nor plunder with impunity villages under British protection.

The Governor-General in Council cordially congratulates Major-General Sir Charles Napier on the successful termination of this campaign. He begs that his Excellency will inform the general officers, officers, non-commissioned officers, and private soldiers, that the Governor-General in Council admires and acknowledges their patient perseverance and indefatigable exertions throughout these operations.

The Governor-General will convey to his Highness Ali Morad the sense he entertains of the zeal, courage, and fidelity displayed by his Highness on this occasion.

Extracts from Dispatches from Major-General Sir C. Napier, G. C. B. to the Governor-General of India in Council, &c.

Camp, Truckee, February 10, 1845.

IT is my duty to his Highness Ali Morad Khan, Talpoor, to make an official report of this Prince's conduct as a faithful ally of the British nation.

At the commencement of the present campaign on the Sinde frontier, his Highness brought an auxiliary force into the field, under his personal command, and has given me every assistance in his power.

His Highness was ever eager to be in front, and in fact his troops encamped farther into the pass than ours, at least up to the present moment.

For his Highness, I have to crave your thanks, Right Honourable Sir; they are due to him for the zeal and courage with which he has served the Honourable Company, and at a large expenditure, thus proving the fidelity of his alliance.

Camp, Truckee, March 9, 1845.

I HAVE to report to you the conclusion of the war against the mountain and desert tribes, who, driven into their last refuge, the stronghold at Truckee, have this day laid down their arms; the fort of Deyrah is destroyed; and Islam Boogtie, the only chief not a prisoner, is said to be a lonely fugitive to the Ketran country, far in the north, and ruled by a chief whose daughter Islam married.

To detail the movements which led to this result would produce a dispatch of greater length than is necessary; nor indeed could it be well understood, as no map exists of this part of Selwistan and Cutchee. Suffice it, therefore, to say, that the mountain tribes occupy a country of extensive deserts and barren mountains, stretching about 140 miles from east to west. On the western side it is about 120 miles in breadth, but has a triangular form, and diminishes towards the east to the breadth of about 50 miles. Into this apex, or smaller part, we succeeded in driving the robber chiefs, but with great difficulty, for this part of the country is full of the most dangerous defiles. To enter them with a regular force is an operation which threatens it with destruction. The only credit to be acquired in such a war is that which results from patience under privations created by the dearth of water and the difficulty of getting up supplies. These deprivations were borne by this whole force with so much good humour as to show that the eager desire of every one to do his duty absorbed all other feelings, and deserves my highest praise. These privations fell especially hard upon those hard-working and much enduring men called camp followers.

The demands of this campaign at times placed Major-Generals Simpson and Hunter in commands which, in point of numbers, were more suited to the rank of captains than to that of general officers; but, well aware of the vast importance attaching to each post in so dangerous a country as this, these general officers devoted themselves with the greatest alacrity to the duties demanded of them.

In short, I must speak in the highest terms of all the officers, non-commissioned officers, and privates in this field force, whether belonging to the general staff, my personal staff, or to regiments. Every thing has been accomplished by their personal exertions, each in his own sphere. I have also been fortunate in the commanders of all arms, and I therefore give a simple list of their names in the margin, that whatever credit the supreme government may deem due to the troops may be theirs.

This force consists of 4861 men of all arms, including non-commissioned officers; a small force, when it is considered over what an extensive tract of country our operations have been carried, and the difficult nature of that country.

The results of this campaign may be divided into two parts, the physical effect, and the moral effect.

With regard to the first the results are as follows:

1st. The total destruction of the robber tribes. Deyriah Khan, Chief of the Jakranies, Dinanah Moondrannee, Sooliman Ramdanee, and Toork Ali, and their tribes, all surrendered on the 5th, accompanied by Jumal Khan, nephew of Beejar Khan Doomkie, with a large portion of that tribe. These men I pardoned and saved from plunder, but on condition of their being transplanted into the Sinde territory. The great Chief Beejar Khan, and the rest of the Doomkies, refused to surrender on the proffered conditions. They held out till this day, when they were forced to submit unconditionally, together with Meer Hussen Notanee, a leading chief of the Boogtie tribe, and his followers; also Mundoo Khan Doomkie, nephew to Beejar Khan, and Wuzeer Doomkie, son of Beejar Khan. Ali Sher Boordie, a minor desert chief, surrendered a week ago, and was the first who broke the coalition. The chiefs and their tribes who held out have been deservedly plundered by the troops which I had dispatched in all directions to intercept their retreat with their baggage; cattle, household furniture, almost every thing has been taken, except what was in possession of their women and children, who have been in no way molested, or even approached by the troops.

The moral effect of this expedition has been,

1. To spread a wholesome respect for our arms among the neighbouring nations, who, seeing the tribes, so warlike and honoured among them, have been broken to pieces without daring to fight a battle, even when posted in the celebrated fastness of Truckee, will form a just idea of the British power; indeed, I have already received, within the last few days, letters from neighbouring tribes, asking me to attach their territory to Sinde, to be under the British rule, and thus to be protected from the pillage and misery in which they live.

2. The moral effect in Sinde will be to give confidence to the people (especially those bordering on the desert frontier), whose cries against the government during the last summer, for not affording them protection against the robber tribes, were both frequent and just; but the great heat at that time rendered it impossible to give them that protection. The example now made of the robber tribes will shew the people of Sinde that the government has both the will and the power to protect them.

The above results can hardly be denied.

In conclusion, I have to observe, that the war lasted from the 16th January to the 9th of March, a period of fifty-two days. This was too long, but the robbers had stricken such terror into the camel owners, that to get sufficient carriage for our supplies was difficult in the extreme; and, if we had fallen back one march to meet our provisions, during our operations, the exultation among the robbers and all their allies would assuredly have been so sudden and so great, that I think it very doubtful whether we must not have retreated altogether, for our camel men would have deserted, and enemies would have risen up in every direction.

On one occasion we were so closely pressed by the scarcity of provisions, that I sent off the camel corps, under Lieutenant Fitzgerald, who reached Shahpoor in one march from the Jummuck Pass, making three marches in one, and then returned the same distance with 43,000 pounds of provisions, thus doing, in two days and a night, what a convoy of hired camels would take six days and six nights to perform, besides requiring a guard; whereas the camel corps required no guard, the drivers being well armed with muskets. There could scarcely be a better specimen of the great power of this corps, even in its infancy.

Had a baggage camel corps been formed, this campaign could easily have been concluded in thirty days. In the above forced march made by the camel corps, not one animal was lost, nor did any of them fail till during the last week, when, being obliged to make a forced march among these tremendous rocks, the corps lost fifteen animals; but this is not marching, it is climbing. To shew the nature of the ground over which we have carried on our operations during the last three weeks, I have only to say that the robbers have been seen pulling their camels up precipices by ropes; and they probably knew the easiest places of access.

The campaign has convinced me of the necessity of a camel baggage corps being formed on a very extensive scale. Without that, the loss of camels will always be immense in the field, and the efficiency of the army liable to be paralysed at the most critical moment of the campaign.

THIS Gazette contains an Order in Council, relative to a scheme, duly prepared by the Ecclesiastical Commissioners for England, for constituting a separate district for spiritual purposes out of the parish of Darlington, in the county and diocese of Durham, and to be named, "The District of Saint John, Darlington."

A similar Order, for constituting a separate district for spiritual purposes out of the parochial chapelry of Todmorden, in the parish of Rochdale, in the county of Lancaster, and in the diocese of Chester, and to be named, "The District of Walsden."

A similar Order, for constituting a separate district for spiritual purposes out of the parish of Saint Paul, Deptford, in the counties of Kent and Surrey, and in the diocese of Rochester, and to be named, "The District of Saint James, Hatcham."

At the Court at Buckingham-Palace, the 30th day of June 1845,

PRESENT,

The QUEEN's Most Excellent Majesty in Council.

WHEREAS by an Act, passed in the seventh and eighth years of Her Majesty's reign, intituled "An Act to amend the law respecting the "office of county coroner," it is enacted, that, when and as often as it shall seem expedient to the justices of any county that such county should be divided into two or more districts, for the purposes of that Act, or that any alteration should be made of any division theretofore made under that Act, it should be lawful for the said justices, in general or quarter sessions assembled, to resolve that a petition should be presented to Her Majesty, praying, that such division or alteration be made, and thereupon to adjourn the further consideration of such petition until notice thereof should be given to the coroner or coroners of such county as thercinafter provided; and it is thereby further enacted, that the clerk of the peace should give notice of any such resolution to every coroner for such county, and of the time when the petition would be taken by the said justices into consideration, and the justices should confer with every such coroner who should attend the meeting of the justices for that purpose, touching such petition, having due regard to the size and nature of each proposed district, the number of the inhabitants, the nature of their employment, and such other circumstances as should appear to the justices fit to be considered in carrying into execution the provisions of that Act; and such petition, with a description of the several proposed districts, and of the boundaries thereof, with the reasons upon which the petition is founded, should be certified to Her Majesty, under the hands and seals of two or more of the justices present when such petition should be agreed to, and the clerk of the peace for such county should forthwith give or send a true copy of such petition, certified under his hand, to every coroner for such county; and it is further enacted, that it should be lawful for Her Majesty, if she should think fit, with the advice of Her Privy Council, after taking into consideration any such petition which might be presented to Her by any coroner of the same county, concerning such proposed division or alteration, or whenever it should seem fit to Her Majesty, to direct the issue of a writ de coronatore eligendo, for the purpose of authorising the election of an additional coroner above the number of those who had been theretofore customarily elected in such county, to order that such county should be divided into such and so many districts, for the purposes of that Act, as to Her Majesty, with the advice aforesaid, should seem expedient, and to give a name to each of such districts, and to determine at what place within such district the court for the election of coroner for such district should be holden, as thereinafter provided; and every such Order should be published in the London Gazette:

And whereas the justices of the peace for the county of Salop, in general quarter sessions assembled, at Shrewsbury, in and for the said county, on Monday the thirtieth day of December one thousand eight hundred and forty-four, did resolve, that an humble petition should be presented to Her Majesty, praying for such division or alteration as thereinafter mentioned, and did adjourn the further consideration thereof at an adjournment of the general quarter sessions of the peace, held at the Shire-hall, in Shrewsbury, in and for the county of Salop, on Thursday the thirtieth day of January one thousand eight hundred and forty-five, due notice thereof having been given to all the coroners of the said county, as two of the justices attending such adjourned sessions did thereby certify, under their hands and seals, that such petition was agreed to; and whereas the said justices have since presented their petition to Her Majesty, representing,

"That the county of Salop forms an area of about one thousand three hundred and eighty-six square miles; that it consists of upwards of two hundred thousand inhabitants, exclusive of the boroughs situate therein, having separate jurisdictions; that it extends from north to south about fifty miles, and from east to west nearly forty miles; that there are at present only four county coroners acting for the said county; that, upon reference to their accounts, it appears that they travel distances of as much as twenty, twenty-two, twenty-four, twenty-eight, thirty, thirty-one, thirty-three, and thirty-four miles to take inquests, which is not only a considerable expence to the said county, but is often productive of great inconvenience;

"That the said county consists of thirteen hundreds, viz. Albrighton, Bradford, Brimstree, Chirbury, Clun, Condover, Ford, Munslow, Oswestry, Overs, Pimhill, Purslow, and Stottesden;

"That one of the said four county coroners generally acts for the hundreds of Albrighton and Bradford, the Shiffnall division of the hundred of Brimstree, and for portions of the hundreds of Condover, Ford, and Pimhill;

"That another generally acts for the hundreds of Chirbury, Clun, Munslow, Purslow, and Overs, and for portions of the hundreds of Condover, Ford, and Stottesden;

" That a third coroner generally acts for the hundreds of Oswestry and Pimhill, together with portions of the hundreds of Condover, Ford, Munslow, and Stottesden;

" And the fourth for the hundred of Stottesden;

" That the said petitioners are of opinion that it will be expedient to divide the said county into five districts instead of four, as at present, and to have one additional coroner;

" And therefore praying Her Majesty to make such order, with the advice of Her Privy Council, as shall be requisite for the election of an additional coroner for the said county, and for dividing the said county into the following districts, that is to say;

" 1. The hundreds of Oswestry and Pimhill;

" 2. The hundred of Bradford, both north and south, and that portion of the hundred of Brimstree which extends to the parish of Stockton, inclusive;

" 3. The hundreds of Albrighton, Chirbury, Condover, and Ford;

" 4. That portion of the hundred of Brimstree lying south of the parish of Stockton, also the hundred of Stottesden, with the exception of Cleobury Mortimer, Hopton Wafers, and the Titterstone Clee-hill, and of what lies west of Cleobury Mortimer, Hopton Wafers, and the Titterstone Clee-hill;

" 5. The hundreds of Clun, Munslow, Overs, and Purslow, and that portion of the hundred of Stottesden lying west of and including Cleobury Mortimer, Hopton Wafers, and the Titterstone Clee-hill;

" No. 1 to be called, the Oswestry and Pimhill District;

" No. 2 to be called, the Bradford District;

" No. 3 to be called, the Ford District;

" No. 4 to be called, the Stottesden District; and

" No. 5 to be called, the Purslow District :"

Now, therefore, Her Majesty, having taken the said petition into consideration, doth, pursuant to the said Act of the seventh and eighth years of Her reign, by and with the advice of Her Privy Council, declare, order, and direct, that such county shall be divided into five districts, for the purposes of the said Act, to be called by the several and respective names following, that is to say, No. 1, to be called the " Oswestry and Pimhill District;" No. 2, to be called the " Bradford District;" No. 3, to be called the " Ford District;" No. 4, to be called the " Stottesden District;" and No. 5, to be called the " Purslow District;" and it is hereby further ordered, declared, directed, and determined, that the courts to be holden for the purpose of the election of any coroner of any one or more of the said districts, respectively, when and as the same shall become necessary under the provisions of the said recited Act, shall be as follows, that is to say, for No. 1, the Oswestry and Pimhill district, to be holden at the town of Ruyton of the Eleven Towns, within the said district, and the poll to be taken there, and at the towns or villages of Whittington and Cockshut; for No. 2, the Bradford district, to be holden at the town of Hodnet, and the poll to be taken there, and at the towns of Whitchurch, Newport, and Wellington; for No. 3, the Ford district, to be holden at the town or village of Pontesbury, and the poll to be taken there, and at the village of Condover; for No. 4, the Stottesden district, to be holden at the town or village of Stottesden, and the poll to be taken there, and at the town or village of Worfield; and for No. 5, the Purslow district, to be holden at the town of Church Stretton, and the poll to be taken there, and at the town of Clun and the village of Bromfield:

And it is hereby also further declared, ordered, and directed, that this Order shall be published in the London Gazette.

Wm. L. Bathurst.

FROM THE

LONDON GAZETTE of AUGUST 1, 1845.

At the Court at Buckingham-Palace, the 30th day of June 1845,

PRESENT,

The QUEEN's Most Excellent Majesty in Council.

WHEREAS by an Act, passed in the seventh and eighth years of Her Majesty's reign, intituled " An Act to amend the law respecting the " office of county coroner," it is enacted, that, when and as often as it shall seem expedient to the justices of any county that such county should be divided into two or more districts, for the purposes of that Act, or that any alteration should be made of any division theretofore made under that Act, it should be lawful for the said justices, in general or quarter sessions assembled, to resolve that a petition should be presented to Her Majesty, praying, that such division or alteration be made, and thereupon to adjourn the further consideration of such petition until notice thereof should be given to the coroner or coroners of such county as thereinafter provided; and it is thereby further enacted, that the clerk of the peace should give notice of any such resolution to every coroner for such county, and of the time when the petition would be taken by the said justices into consideration, and the justices should confer with every such coroner who should attend the meeting of the justices for that purpose, touching such petition, having due regard to the size and nature of each proposed district, the number of the inhabitants, the nature of their employment, and such other circumstances as should appear to the justices fit to be considered in carrying into execution the provisions of that Act; and such petition, with a description of the several proposed districts, and of the boundaries thereof, with the reasons upon which the petition is founded, should be certified to Her Majesty, under the hands and seals of two or more of the justices present when such petition should be agreed to, and the clerk of the peace for such county should forthwith give or send a true copy of such petition, certified under his hand, to every coroner for such county; and it is further enacted, that it should be lawful for Her Majesty, if she should think fit, with the advice of Her Privy Council, after taking into consideration any such petition which might be presented to Her by any coroner of the same county, concerning such proposed division or alteration, or whenever it should seem fit to Her Majesty, to direct the issue of a writ de coronatore eligendo, for the purpose of authorising the election of an additional coroner above the number of those who had been theretofore customarily elected in such county, to order that such county should be divided into such and so many districts, for the purposes of that Act, as to Her Majesty, with the advice aforesaid, should seem expedient, and to give a name to each of such districts, and to determine at what place within such district the court for the election of coroner for such district should be holden, as thereinafter provided; and every such Order should be published in the London Gazette:

And whereas the justices of the peace for the county of Hereford, in general quarter sessions assembled, at the Shire-hall, in the city of Hereford, in and for the said county, on the thirtieth day of December one thousand eight hundred and forty-four, did resolve, that a humble petition should be presented to Her Majesty, praying for such division or alteration as thereinafter mentioned, and did adjourn the further consideration thereof to the general quarter sessions of the peace, held at the Shire-hall, in Hereford, in and for the county of Hereford, on the seventh day of April one thousand eight hundred and forty-five, due notice thereof having been given to all the coroners of the said county; and three of the justices attending such general quarter sessions did thereby certify, under their hands and seals, that such petition was agreed to; and whereas the said justices have since presented their petition to Her Majesty, representing,

"That whereas it seemed expedient to the justices of the said county, that the said county should be divided into two districts, for the purposes of the Act, intituled "An Act to amend "the law respecting the office of county coroner;" and the said justices did, in quarter sessions assembled, on Monday the thirtieth day of December one thousand eight hundred and forty-four, resolve, that a petition should be presented to Her Majesty, praying, that such division be made, and did thereupon adjourn the further consideration of such petition to the quarter sessions to be holden on Monday the seventh day of April one thousand eight hundred and forty-five; and whereas due notice of such resolution was given by the clerk of the peace to the two coroners for the said county; the said justices having conferred with the said coroners, and having had due regard to the size and nature of each proposed district, the number of the inhabitants, and the nature of their employment, and because, in the event of a contested election for the office of coroner, very considerable expence will be saved to the candidates, also a considerable saving will be afforded to the county in the travelling expences of the coroners and constables, or other persons giving notice to coroners of deaths, and because favoritism or partiality in selecting the coroner to whom notices of death are given will be prevented, thereby confirmed the resolution passed on the thirtieth day of December one thousand eight hundred and forty-four, and humbly petitioned Her Majesty that the said county may be divided into the two following districts, viz.

" The first, to be called the Hereford District, containing the parishes, townships, and extra-parochial places thereunto adjoining, hereinafter named, all of which lie to the south part of the said county, and contain, according to the census taken in one thousand eight hundred and forty-one, about two hundred and seventy-five thousand square acres, and fifty-four thousand inhabitants, who are chiefly employed in agriculture:

" The other district, to be called the Leominster District, containing the parishes, townships, and extra-parochial places thereunto adjoining, hereinafter named, all of which lie to the northern part of the said county, and contain about two hundred and sixty thousand square acres, and forty-eight thousand inhabitants, who are chiefly employed in agriculture:

" And therefore praying, that the court for the election of coroner for the Hereford District may be holden at the Shire-hall, in Hereford, and the court for the election of coroner for the Leominster District may be holden at Leominster; and they did thereby assign the Hereford District to Thomas Evans, Gentleman, one of the persons then holding the office of coroner for the said county, and the Leominster District to Nicholas Lanwarne, Gentleman, the other person then holding the office of coroner for the said county.

FROM THE

LONDON GAZETTE of AUGUST 12, 1845.

Buckingham-Palace, August 9, 1845.

THIS day Her Majesty, accompanied by His Royal Highness Prince Albert, proceeded in state from Buckingham-Palace to the House of Peers, where she arrived at a quarter before two o'clock; and was received, on alighting from her state coach, by the Lord Chancellor, the Lord President of the Council, the Lord Privy Seal, Sir Augustus Clifford, Bart. C. B. Deputy Great Chamberlain (in the absence of the Lord Willoughby d'Eresby), the Earl Marshal, the Lord Steward of the Household, the Duke of Wellington, Garter King of Arms, and the Yeoman Usher of the Black Rod, and proceeded to the robing-room in the customary manner.

Her Majesty was there robed, and the procession moved into the House in the usual order;—the sword of state was borne by the Duke of Wellington, and the cap of maintenance by the Marquess of Winchester.

Her Majesty being seated on the Throne, and His Royal Highness Prince Albert on a Chair on the left side of the Cloth of Estate, the Great Officers of State and others standing on the right and left, James Pulman, Esq. Yeoman Usher of the Black Rod, was sent with a message from Her Majesty to the House of Commons, commanding their attendance in the House of Peers. The Commons being come thither accordingly, Her Majesty was pleased to deliver the following most gracious Speech to both Houses of Parliament:

My Lords, and Gentlemen,

I REJOICE that the state of public business enables me to release you from further attendance in Parliament.

In closing this laborious session, I must express to you my warm acknowledgments for the zeal and assiduity with which you have applied yourselves to the consideration of many subjects deeply affecting the public welfare.

I have given my cordial assent to the Bills which you presented to me for remitting the duties on many articles of import, and for removing restrictions on the free application of capital and skill to certain branches of our manufactures.

The reduction of taxation will necessarily cause an immediate loss of revenue, but I trust that its effect in stimulating commercial enterprize and enlarging the means of consumption will ultimately provide an ample compensation for any temporary sacrifice.

I have witnessed with peculiar satisfaction the unremitting attention which you have bestowed on the measures recommended by me to your consideration at the commencement of the session, for improving and extending the means of academical education in Ireland.

You may rely upon my determination to carry those measures into execution in the manner best calculated to inspire confidence in the institutions which have received your sanction, and to give effect to your earnest desire to promote the welfare of that part of my dominions.

From all Foreign Powers, I continue to receive assurances of their friendly disposition towards this country.

The Convention which I have recently concluded with the King of the French, for the more effectual suppression of the slave trade, will, I trust, by establishing a cordial and active co-operation between the two Powers, afford a better prospect than has hitherto existed of complete success in the attainment of an object for which this country has made so many sacrifices.

Gentlemen of the House of Commons,

I thank you for the liberality with which you have voted the supplies for the service of the current year.

My Lords, and Gentlemen,

On your return to your several counties, duties will devolve upon you scarcely less important than those from the performance of which I now relieve you.

I feel assured that you will promote and confirm, by your influence and example, that spirit of loyalty and contentment which you will find generally prevalent throughout the country.

In the discharge of all the functions intrusted to you for the public welfare, you may confidently rely on my cordial support; and I implore the blessing of Divine Providence on our united efforts to encourage the industry and increase the comforts of my people, and to inculcate those religious and moral principles which are the surest foundation of our security and happiness.

Then the Lord Chancellor, by Her Majesty's command, said :

My Lords, and Gentlemen,

It is Her Majesty's royal will and pleasure, that this Parliament be prorogued to Thursday the second day of October next, to be then here holden ; and this Parliament is accordingly prorogued to Thursday the second day of October next.

At the Court at Buckingham-Palace, the 8th day of August 1845,

PRESENT,

The QUEEN's Most Excellent Majesty in Council.

HER Majesty having been pleased to appoint the Right Honourable John Earl Somers to be Lord Lieutenant and Custos Rotulorum of the county of Hereford, his Lordship this day took the oaths appointed to be taken thereupon, instead of the oaths of allegiance and supremacy.

PRESENT,

The QUEEN's Most Excellent Majesty in Council.

Brown sugar, being Muscovado or clayed, or any other sugar, not being equal in quality to white clayed, for every hundred weight	1	3	4

And whereas by the said Act it is further enacted, that it shall be lawful for Her Majesty, from time to time, by any Order or Orders in Council, to declare, with respect to any foreign country or countries, that it having appeared to Her Majesty, upon sufficient evidence, that the sugars of such country or countries are not the produce of slave labour, such sugars shall (from and after a day to be named in such Order) be deemed and taken not to be the produce of slave labour; and, from and after the day so to be named in such Order, the brown, Muscovado, or clayed sugar (not being refined), of the country or countries mentioned in such Order, shall be admissible to entry for home consumption at the said respective duties of one pound eight shillings, or of one pound three shillings and four pence, per hundred weight respectively, in like manner as sugar the growth and produce of China, Java, and Manilla:

And whereas it has appeared to Her Majesty, upon sufficient evidence, that the sugars of Siam are not the produce of slave labour:

Now, therefore, Her Majesty, by and with the advice of Her Privy Council, doth order, and it is hereby ordered, that, from and after the first day of July one thousand eight hundred and forty-five, the sugars of Siam shall be deemed and taken not to be the produce of slave labour:

FROM THE

LONDON GAZETTE of AUGUST 19, 1845.

At the Court at Buckingham-Palace, the 30th day of June 1845,

PRESENT,

The QUEEN's Most Excellent Majesty in Council.

WHEREAS by an Act, passed in the seventh and eighth years of Her Majesty's reign, intituled " An Act to amend the law respecting the " office of county coroner," it is enacted, that, when and as often as it shall seem expedient to the justices of any county that such county should be divided into two or more districts, for the purposes of that Act, or that any alteration should be made of any division theretofore made under that Act, it should be lawful for the said justices, in general or quarter sessions assembled, to resolve that a petition should be presented to Her Majesty, praying, that such division or alteration be made, and thereupon to adjourn the further consideration of such petition until notice thereof should be given to the coroner or coroners of such county as thereinafter provided; and it is thereby further enacted, that the clerk of the peace should give notice of any such resolution to every coroner for such county, and of the time when the petition would be taken by the said justices into consideration, and the justices should confer with every such coroner who should attend the meeting of the justices for that purpose, touching such petition, having due regard to the size and nature of each proposed district, the number of the inhabitants, the nature of their employment, and such other circumstances as should appear to the justices fit to be considered in carrying into execution the provisions of that Act; and such petition, with a description of the several proposed districts, and of the boundaries thereof, with the reasons upon which the petition is founded, should be certified to Her Majesty, under the hands and seals of two or more of the justices present when such petition should be agreed to, and the clerk of the peace for such county should forthwith give or send a true copy of such petition, certified under his hand, to every coroner for such county; and it is further enacted, that it should be lawful for Her Majesty, if she should think fit, with the advice of Her Privy Council, after taking into consideration any such petition which might be presented to Her by any coroner of the same county, concerning such proposed division or alteration, or whenever it should seem fit to Her Majesty, to direct the issue of a writ de coronatore eligendo, for the purpose of authorising the election of an additional coroner above the number of those who had been theretofore customarily elected in such county, to order that such county should be divided into such and so many districts, for the purposes of that Act, as to Her Majesty, with the advice aforesaid, should seem expedient, and to give a name to each of such districts, and to determine at what place within such district the court for the election of coroner for such district should be holden, as thereinafter provided; and every such Order should be published in the London Gazette:

And whereas the justices of the peace for the county of Oxford, in general quarter sessions assembled, at Oxford, in and for the said county, on Monday the thirtieth day of December one thousand eight hundred and forty-four, did resolve, that a humble petition should be presented to Her Majesty, praying for such division or alteration as thereinafter mentioned, and did adjourn the further consideration thereof to the adjournment of the general quarter sessions of the peace, held at the County-hall, at Oxford, in and for the said county of Oxford, on Saturday the first day of February one thousand eight hundred and forty-five, due notice thereof having been given to all the coroners of the said county; and two of the justices attending such adjourned sessions did thereby certify, under their hands and seals, that such petition was agreed to:

And whereas the said justices have since presented their petition to Her Majesty, representing

"That, it having seemed expedient to the justices at large of the said county of Oxford, that the county should be divided into four districts for the purposes of the Act of the seventh and eighth years of Her Majesty's reign, intituled "An Act to amend "the law respecting the office of county coroner,"

it was resolved by the said justices in quarter session assembled, that a petition should be presented to Her Majesty, praying, that such division be made, and that thereupon the justices adjourned the further consideration of such petition until the said first day of February one thousand eight hundred and forty-five, notice thereof having, in the interval, been given to the several coroners of the said county, three out of the four of whom on the said day personally attended the meeting of the justices for that purpose, who conferred with the said coroners touching the said petition ; and, therefore, having due regard to the size and nature of each district, the number of its inhabitants, the nature of their employments, and other circumstances, humbly praying, that the said county may be divided into the four following districts, and representing that as the said county is almost entirely an agricultural one, having, beyond that circumstance, no peculiarity in it, the reason upon which the subjoined division is founded, has been confined to its equality in area and population as far as practicable ; and that, in endeavouring to arrive at such equality, consideration has been had to the fact, that the University of Oxford, the parliamentary borough of Oxford, the borough of New Woodstock (as prior to the Boundaries Act, third of William the Fourth, cap. 64), the municipal borough of Banbury, and the corporate town of Henley-upon-Thames, within the said county, severally have coroners of their own to the exclusion of the county coroners.

NOTICE is hereby given, that, from and after the 1st day of November 1845, the following arrangements and regulations for examining Masters and Mates, in the Merchant Service, voluntarily offering themselves for examination, will take effect.

By order of the Lords of the Committee of Privy Council for Trade, J. G. S. Lefevre, Assistant Secretary.

I.—As to the Boards of Examiners.

1. The Boards enumerated in the schedule hereto have voluntarily undertaken respectively to conduct the examinations hereinafter described, according to the arrangements and regulations contained in this notice, which are subject to any future regulations to be from time to time made by the Lords of the Committee of Privy Council for Trade, and published in the London, Edinburgh, and Dublin Gazettes.

2. Each Board of Examiners is to examine all persons who shall apply as hereinafter is mentioned for certificates of qualification as masters or mates of vessels, and shall grant to such of them as upon examination shall be found to be properly qualified certificates accordingly, of the classes following:—

Masters,	1st class.	2d class.	3d class.
Mates,	1st class.	2d class.	3d class.

3. The actual examiners are to be members of the said enumerated Boards, or proper persons appointed or employed by the Boards respectively.

4. In every case the examination is to be carried on by at least two examiners who have had charge of ships or vessels on over-sea voyages.

5. In the examination of the first and second classes hereinafter described, the examiners are to be assisted by a scientific person competently acquainted with the theory of navigation and nautical astronomy.

6. Such examination is to comprise the several points, and be subject to the several conditions hereinafter mentioned.

II.—Conditions and Subjects of Examination.

1. No person is to be examined as a master under 21 years of age, nor as a mate under 19 years, nor who has not previously served at sea for not less than 6 years, as regards an examination for master, and for not less than 4 years as regards that for mate.

2. All candidates for examination must produce sufficient evidence of their ages, and certificates of service and sobriety, general good character and conduct; and particular care is to be taken by the examiners to satisfy themselves as to the habitual sobriety of the party, previous to granting him a certificate of fitness to take charge and command of, or serve as master or mate on board any vessel.

3. They must be able to write a legible hand, and must understand the five first rules of arithmetic.

4. They will be examined as to their knowledge of seamanship, of rigging vessels, stowing holds, &c. in addition to which those to be admitted into the lowest class, or class 3d, must be able to correct the courses steered by compass for variation, leeway, &c. to work what is termed a day's work, to prick off the vessel's place on a chart, either by the calculated latitude and longitude, or by the bearings of the land by compass.

5. They must show that they understand the use of the quadrant or sextant, and can observe the sun's meridian altitude, and therefrom determine the latitude, and are able to work the tides by the age of the moon, from the known time of high water at the full and change.

6. To be entitled to 2d class certificates, candidates must, in addition to all the foregoing qualifications, be able to ascertain the latitude by double altitudes of the sun, and by meridian altitudes of the moon, or of those bright planets or stars, the places of which are given in the nautical almanac. They must understand the care and management of chronometers, and the mode of working out and ascertaining the longitude therefrom, and they must be able to ascertain the variation of the compass by the azimuth of the sun, as well as by the amplitude.

7. To be entitled to a 1st class certificate, candidates will, in addition to all the foregoing qualifications, undergo a more strict examination as to their proficiency in navigation and also in seamanship, under the many difficult circumstances and trying situations to which vessels may be exposed; such as, having to erect and to rig jury-masts, when suddenly requisite, or to form rafts in case of being stranded, &c. and in such other cases as call for a higher order of resources. They must have a competent acquaintance with plane trigonometry, a general knowledge of nautical astronomy, including the determination of the latitude by reduction to the meridian, and of the longitude by lunar observations.

8. They must be acquainted with the mode of ascertaining and applying the deviation of the compass, produced by the local attraction, which is of so much importance in all vessels, and particularly in those built of iron or having iron on board in any quantity. They must be practically acquainted with the mode of comparing two or more chronometers, and of rating them by equal altitudes.

9. They must understand the construction of Mercator charts, so as to be able to correct any errors they may detect in those they possess, as well as to insert with precision any new shoals or islands they may discover; and must be well versed in the mode of laying down the required course on the chart.

10. They must also possess a knowledge of mercantile bookkeeping, at least by single entry.

11. In the event of any candidate proving himself to have higher attainments than the foregoing, such as being well versed in great circle sailing, spherical trigonometry, marine surveying, and a more extensive knowledge of astronomy, it is to be noted in his certificate, and is to entitle him to have "class 1, extra," thereon.

12. The examination of mates, who are to be considered as the substitutes for masters in certain contingencies, is, on that account, to embrace the same branches with the master's examination in each class respectively, having regard, however, in its details to the denomination of certificate for which each person may be an applicant.

III.—Times of Examination.

FROM THE

LONDON GAZETTE of AUGUST 22, 1845.

Whitehall, August 21, 1845.

SIR James Robert George Graham, Baronet, one of Her Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, has been pleased to appoint William Blamire, Esq. and George Darby, Esq. Inclosure Commissioners for England and Wales.

FROM THE

LONDON GAZETTE of AUGUST 26, 1845.

THE Right Honourable Sir James Graham has received a dispatch from the Earl of Aberdeen, K. T. dated Rosenau, near Cobourg, 20th August 1845.

The Queen and His Royal Highness Prince Albert arrived at Rosenau, from Wurtzburgh, on the evening of the 19th: and Her Majesty has not experienced any fatigue from the journey.

Her Majesty, after taking leave of the King of Prussia, at Stolzenfels, on the morning of Saturday the 16th, ascended the Rhine, as far as Mayence, in the Fairy yacht: on Sunday Her Majesty rested at Mayence, and attended Divine Service at the English chapel.

On Monday the 18th, the Queen slept at Wurtzburgh, and was received, on Her arrival at the Palace, by Prince Luitpold of Bavaria, in the absence of the King, who was detained at Munich. During the passage of the Queen through the Bavarian territory, Her Majesty was treated with great honour and respect.

On the arrival of the Queen and His Royal Highness Prince Albert in the Duchy of Cobourg, they were met by the Reigning Duke, and were greeted with universal demonstrations of joy and attachment.

At the Court at Buckingham-Palace, the 30th day of June 1845,

PRESENT,

The QUEEN's Most Excellent Majesty in Council.

WHEREAS by an Act, passed in the seventh and eighth years of Her Majesty's reign, intituled "An Act to amend the laws respecting the "office of county coroner," it is enacted, that, when and as often as it shall seem expedient to the justices of any county that such county should be divided into two or more districts, for the purposes of that Act, or that any alteration should be made of any division theretofore made under that Act, it should be lawful for the said justices, in general or quarter sessions assembled, to resolve that a petition should be presented to Her Majesty, praying, that such division or alteration be made, and thereupon to adjourn the further consideration of such petition until notice thereof should be given to the coroner or coroners of such county as thereinafter provided; and it is thereby further enacted, that the clerk of the peace should give notice of any such resolution to every coroner for such county, and of the time when the petition would be taken by the said justices into consideration, and the justices should confer with every such coroner who should attend the meeting of the justices for that purpose, touching such petition, having due regard to the size and nature of each proposed district, the number of inhabitants, the nature of their employment, and such other circumstances as should appear to the justices fit to be considered in carrying into execution the provisions of that Act; and such petition, with a description of the several proposed districts, and of the boundaries thereof, with the reasons upon which the petition is founded, should be certified to Her Majesty, under the hands and seals of two or more of the justices present when such petition should be agreed to, and the clerk of the peace for such county should forthwith give or send a true copy of such petition, certified under his hand, to every coroner for such county; and it is further enacted, that it should be lawful for Her Majesty, if she should think fit, with the advice of Her Privy Council, after taking into consideration any such petition which might be presented to Her by any coroner of the same county, concerning such proposed division or alteration, or whenever it should seem fit to Her Majesty, to direct the issue of a writ de coronatore eligendo, for the purpose of authorising the election of an additional coroner above the number of those who had been theretofore customarily elected in such county, to order that such county should be divided into such and so many districts, for the purposes of that Act, as to Her Majesty, with the advice aforesaid, should seem expedient, and to give a name to each of such districts, and to determine at what place within such district the court for the election of coroner for such district should be holden, as thereinafter provided; and every such Order should be published in the London Gazette :

And whereas the justices of the peace for the county of Lincoln, at a court of gaol sessions for the said county of Lincoln, held on the twenty-sixth day of December one thousand eight hundred and forty-four, did resolve, that a humble petition should be presented to Her Majesty, praying for such division or alteration as thereinafter mentioned, and did adjourn the further consideration thereof to a court of gaol sessions for the three divisions of Lindsey, Kesteven, and Holland, in the county of Lincoln aforesaid, held at the Castle of Lincoln, in and for the said county, the eleventh day of March one thousand eight hundred and forty-five, due notice thereof having been given to the several coroners of the said county, and four of the justices attending such adjourned sessions did thereby certify, under their hands and seals, that such petition was agreed to :

And the said justices further certified and declared, that, at the aforesaid adjourned court of gaol sessions for the said county of Lincoln, due notice having been in the mean time given to the several coroners for the said county as required by the said Act, of the said resolution, passed at the said December sessions, and of the time when the said petition would be taken by the justices into consideration; and the said justices then present having conferred with such of the several coroners as then attended that adjourned session for that purpose touching such petition, having due regard to the size and nature of each proposed district, the number of the inhabitants and the nature of their employments and such other circumstances as appeared to them fit to be considered in carrying into execution the provisions of the said Act; and the said justices having carefully examined the lists of the several proposed districts, and made such alterations therein as appeared to them to be necessary, it was resolved and ordered by the adjourned court of gaol sessions aforesaid, and by the justices then present, that the districts as then corrected be confirmed, and that the division of the county of Lincoln into seven districts was thereby agreed to :

And the said justices further certified, for the reasons set forth in the said petition, that they approved of the proposed division; and they further certified that descriptions of the several proposed districts, and of the boundaries thereof, were fully set forth in the schedule hereunder written :

And that each of the said districts is to include any extra-parochial or other place which may lie within the circuit of the parishes and places hereinafter particularly mentioned, as comprised in such district, although such extra-parochial or other place may not be therein specifically mentioned or referred to :

And whereas the said justices have since presented their petition to Her Majesty, representing,

" That, in pursuance of the Act, made and passed in the session held in the seventh and eighth years of Her Majesty's reign, intituled " An " Act to amend the law respecting the office of " county coroner," the said justices thinking it expedient, that the county of Lincoln should be divided into seven districts for the purposes of the said Act, at the court of gaol sessions for the said county of Lincoln, resolved, that this said humble petition should be presented to Her Majesty, praying, that such division may be made, and they had accordingly, in pursuance of the said Act, adjourned the further consideration of the said petition to the next gaol sessions for the said county of Lincoln, which would be held, by adjournment, on Tuesday in the next March assize week, and of which adjournment due notice would be given to the several coroners for the said county, as directed by the said Act :

" That the county of Lincoln is one of the most important agricultural districts in the kingdom, and is of great extent and population, being upwards of seventy-seven miles in length from north to south, and from east to west, varying in distance, from thirty-five to forty-eight miles ; that it contains twenty-nine hundreds, the old city of Lincoln, the four boroughs of Boston, Grimsby, Grantham, and Stamford, thirty-one market towns, and eight hundred and ninety parishes, extra-pa-roehial plaees, ehapelries, and hamlets; that the area of the eounty is two thousand six hundred and eleven square statute miles; and that it eonsequently contains one million six hundred and seventy-one thousand and forty aeres of land; and that, aceording to the last eensus taken in the year one thousand eight hundred and forty-one, the population of the whole county then amounted to three hundred and sixty-two thousand six hundred and two:

"That from time immemorial there have been seven eoroners appointed for and aeting in the said eounty of Lincoln, and they have usually resided, one in or near the eity of Lincoln, one in or near the town of Louth, one in or near the town of Caistor, one in or near the town of Kirton in Lindsey, one in or near the borough of Boston, one in or near the town of Spalding, and one in or near the borough of Grantham; but that it did not appear to the said justiees that the said county has hitherto been eustomarily divided into distinet districts, for the purpose of holding inquests, during the space of seven years before the passing of the said Aet, although usage had in most eases formed eonvenient boundaries of districts in whieh the eoroners have gencrally acted; and that, with a few exeeptions, it is the opinion of the said justices that the same might be now advantageously and eonveniently confirmed; and as it appeared, from the last registers of persons entitled to vote in the election of Knights of the Shire to serve in Parliament for the division of Lindsey, in the said eounty, and also for the division of Kesteven and Holland, that there are now not less than twenty thousand seven hundred and twenty names of persons on those registers, of whom more than one half are freeholders of the county, and would now have a right of voting in the election of a eoroner on any one vacancy taking place, and as great inconvenience and expence would necessarily thereby result, as well to the candidates as the electors, it is obvious that the provisions of the said Act might be very beneficially carried out in the county of Lincoln :

" And, therefore, praying Her Majesty, that the said petition might be taken into Her royal consideration, and that the county of Lincoln might be divided into seven districts for the purposes of the said Act:"

Now, therefore, Her Majesty, having taken the said petition into consideration, doth, pursuant to the said Act of the seventh and eighth years of Her reign, by and with the advice of Her Privy Council, declare, order, and direct, that such county should be divided into seven districts for the purposes of the said Act, to be called by the several and respective names following, that is to say, No. 1, to be called " the Lincoln District," to contain all the places appropriated to that district in the before written schedule; No. 2, to be called " the Kirton District," to contain all the places appropriated to that district in the aforesaid schedule; No. 3, to be called " the Caistor District," to contain all the places appropriated to that district in the aforesaid schedule; No. 4, to be called " the Louth District," to contain all the places appropriated to that district in the aforesaid schedule; No. 5, to be called " the Boston District," to contain all the places appropriated to that district in the aforesaid schedule; No. 6, to be called " the Grantham District," to contain all the places appropriated to that district in the aforesaid schedule; and No. 7, to be called " the Spalding District," to contain all the places appropriated to that district in the aforesaid schedule :

And it is hereby further declared, ordered, directed, and determined, that the courts to be holden for the purpose of the election of any coroner of any one or more of the said districts respectively, when and as the same shall become necessary, under the provisions of the said recited Act, shall be as follows, that is to say, for No. 1, the Lincoln District, to be holden at Lincoln, and the poll to be taken there; for No. 2, the Kirton District, to be holden at Kirton in Lindsey, and the poll to be taken there; for No. 3, the Caistor District, to be holden at Caistor, and the poll to be taken there; for No. 4, the Louth District, to be holden at Louth, and the poll to be taken there; for No. 5, the Boston District, to be holden at Boston, and the poll to be taken there; for No. 6, the Grantham District, to be holden at Grantham, and the poll to be taken there; and for No. 7, the Spalding District, to be holden at Spalding, and the poll to be taken there :

And it is hereby also further declared, ordered, and directed, that this Order be published in the London Gazette.

The Right Honourable Sir Nicolas Conyngham Tindal, Knt. Lord Chief Justice of Her Majesty's Court of Common Pleas, has appointed John Tyas, of Barnsley, in the county of York, Gent. to be one of the Perpetual Commissioners for taking the acknowledgments of deeds to be executed by married women, under the Act passed for the abolition of fines and recoveries, and for the substitution of more simple modes of assurance, in and for the west riding of the county of York.

Whitehall, August 19, 1845.

The Right Honourable Sir Nicolas Conyngham Tindal, Knt. Lord Chief Justice of Her Majesty's Court of Common Pleas, has appointed James Frederick Beever, of Salford, in the county of Lancaster, Gent. to be one of the Perpetual Commissioners for taking the acknowledgments of deeds to be executed by married women, under the Act passed for the abolition of fines and recoveries, and for the substitution of more simple modes of assurance, in and for the county of Lancaster.

TREASURY WARRANT.

WHEREAS by an Act, passed in the third and fourth years of the reign of Her present Majesty, intituled "An Act for the regulation of the duties of postage," power is given to the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury, from time to time, by warrant under their hands, to alter and fix any of the rates of British postage or inland postage, payable by law on the transmission by the post of foreign or colonial letters or newspapers, or of any other printed papers, and to subject the same to rates of postage according to the weight thereof, and a scale of weight to be contained in such warrant; and, from time to time, by warrant as aforesaid, to alter or repeal any such altered rates, and make and establish any new or other rates in lieu thereof; and, from time to time, by warrant as aforesaid, to appoint at what time the rates which may be payable are to be paid; and it is provided that the power thereby given should extend to any increase or reduction or remission of postage:

And whereas, in consequence of communications opened with the post-offices of Hanover and the duchy of Brunswick, it is considered expedient to alter the rates of postage payable on letters conveyed direct viâ the river Elbe, between those countries and the United Kingdom:

Now we, the undersigned, being three of the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury, do, in exercise of the power or authority in us for such purpose vested in and by the said recited Act, and of all other powers and authorities enabling us in this behalf, direct that, on every letter not exceeding half an ounce in weight, posted in or addressed to any part of the kingdom of Hanover or the duchy of Brunswick, and transmitted viâ the Elbe, between any part of the United Kingdom and any place in Hanover or Brunswick (conveyed between the United Kingdom and the Elbe direct by packet boat or private ship), there shall be charged and taken, in lieu of any rates of British postage now payable by law on such letters, an uniform rate of British postage of six pence.

And we direct, that it shall be optional for the sender of any such letter as hereinbefore is mentioned, posted in the United Kingdom, addressed to Hanover or Brunswick (registered letters excepted), to allow the whole of the postage thereof, British and foreign, to be charged to the receiver of the letter in Hanover or Brunswick, or to prepay all such postage at the time of posting the letter; but such sender shall not have the option of paying the British postage thereof only, and leaving the foreign postage to be paid in Hanover or Brunswick.

And we direct, that on every letter not exceeding half an ounce in weight, posted in or addressed to any part of Hanover or Brunswick, transmitted by the post viâ the Elbe, between Hanover or Brunswick and any of Her Majesty's colonies, or any foreign country, through the United Kingdom (conveyed direct by packet boat or private ship between the United Kingdom and the Elbe), there shall be charged and taken, in lieu of any rates of British postage now payable by law on such letters, an uniform rate of British postage of six pence for the conveyance of every such letter between Hanover or Brunswick and any part of the United Kingdom; and also such a further or additional rate of British postage, for the conveyance of every such letter between the port in the United Kingdom of the departure or arrival of the packet or ship conveying the same, and the colony or foreign country to or from which the same shall be forwarded, as shall from time to time be charged and payable for British postage on letters not exceeding half an ounce in weight, posted or delivered at the port in the United Kingdom of the departure or arrival of the packet or ship conveying the same, and transmitted direct between such port and such colony or foreign country.

And we direct, that it shall be optional for the sender of any such letter, as lastly hereinbefore mentioned, posted in any of Her Majesty's colonies where posts have been or shall be established by Her Majesty's Postmaster-General, addressed to Hanover or Brunswick (registered letters excepted), to allow the whole of the postage thereof, colonial, British, and foreign, to be charged to the receiver of the letter in Hanover or Brunswick, or to prepay all such postage at the time of posting the letter; but such sender shall not have the option of paying the colonial and British postage thereof only, and leaving the foreign postage to be paid in Hanover or Brunswick.

And we further direct, that on every letter transmitted, as is mentioned in this warrant, exceeding half an ounce in weight, there shall be charged and taken progressive and additional rates of postage according to the scale of weight and number of rates in the said Act contained as to letters, estimating and charging each additional rate at the sum which any such letter would be charged with under this warrant, if not exceeding half an ounce in weight.

And we further direct, that such printed newspapers as are hereinafter mentioned may be sent by the post at the rates hereinafter set forth (that is to say),

British newspapers sent direct viâ the Elbe from the United Kingdom to Hanover or Brunswick (the conveyance between the United Kingdom and the Elbe being direct by packet boat or private ship), one penny each.

Newspapers published in Hanover or Brunswick, in the German language, and sent from thence direct viâ the Elbe to any part of the United Kingdom (the conveyance between the Elbe and the United Kingdom being direct by packet boat or private ship), one penny each.

And we further direct, that the Postmaster-General may cause the postage on any such printed newspapers to be paid on the same being put into the post-office.

And we further direct, that every printed supplement or additional sheet to any newspaper shall, for the purpose of charging the postage under this warrant, be deemed a distinct newspaper, unless sent in the same cover or together with the newspaper to which it is a supplement or addition.

And we further direct, that no printed newspaper shall be conveyed by the post under the regulations of this present warrant, unless the same shall be sent without a cover, or in a cover open at the sides, or in open bands, and unless there be no word or communication printed on the paper after its publication, or upon the cover or band thereof, and no writing or mark upon it or upon the cover or band of it, except the name and address of the person to whom sent, nor any paper or thing enclosed in or with the same; and every such newspaper shall be forwarded under and subject to such other conditions, regulations, and restrictions as by the said recited Act are directed in respect of newspapers sent by the post.

And we further direct, that nothing herein contained shall be deemed or construed to extend to any letters or newspapers passing by the post between the United Kingdom and the kingdom of Hanover or the duchy of Brunswick, viâ Holland, Belgium, or France, or any other foreign country.

And we further direct, that nothing herein contained shall be deemed or construed to annul, prejudice, or affect any of the exemptions and privileges granted by the said recited Act, or by an Act made and passed in the first year of the reign of Her present Majesty, intituled "An Act for the management of the Post-office," and that all such exemptions and privileges shall remain in full force.

And we further direct, that the terms and expressions used in this warrant shall be construed to have the like meaning in all respects as they would have had if inserted in the said Act of the third and fourth years of the reign of Her present Majesty.

And we further direct, that this warrant shall come into operation on the 1st day of October 1845.

Provided lastly, and we hereby declare and direct, that it shall be lawful for the Commissioners for the time being of Her Majesty's Treasury, or any three of them, by warrant under their hands, at any time hereafter to alter or repeal any of the rates hereby altered, or the regulations hereby made, and to make and establish any new or other rates or regulations in lieu thereof, and from time to time to appoint at what time the rates that may be payable are to be paid.

FROM THE

LONDON GAZETTE of SEPTEMBER 23, 1845.

At the Court at Buckingham-Palace, the 8th day of August 1845,

PRESENT,

The QUEEN's Most Excellent Majesty in Council.

WHEREAS by an Act, passed in the seventh and eighth years of Her Majesty's reign, intituled "An Act to amend the laws respecting the "office of county coroner," it is enacted, that, when and as often as it shall seem expedient to the justices of any county that such county should be divided into two or more districts, for the purposes of that Act, or that any alteration should be made of any division theretofore made under that Act, it should be lawful for the said justices, in general or quarter sessions assembled, to resolve that a petition should be presented to Her Majesty, praying, that such division or alteration be made, and thereupon to adjourn the further consideration of such petition until notice thereof should be given to the coroner or coroners of such county as thereinafter provided; and it is thereby further enacted, that the clerk of the peace should give notice of any such resolution to every coroner for such county, and of the time when the petition would be taken by the said justices into consideration, and the justices should confer with every such coroner who should attend the meeting of the justices for that purpose, touching such petition, having due regard to the size and nature of each proposed district, the number of inhabitants, the nature of their employments, and such other circumstances as should appear to the justices fit to be considered in carrying into execution the provisions of that Act; and such petition, with a description of the several proposed districts, and of the boundaries thereof, with the reasons upon which the petition is founded, should be certified to Her Majesty, under the hands and seals of two or more of the justices present when such petition should be agreed to, and the clerk of the peace for such county should forthwith give or send a true copy of such petition, certified under his hand, to every coroner for such county; and it is further enacted, that it should be lawful for Her Majesty, if she should think fit, with the advice of Her Privy Council, after taking into consideration any such petition which might be presented to Her by any coroner of the same county, concerning such proposed division or alteration, or whenever it should seem fit to Her Majesty, to direct the issue of a writ de coronatore eligendo, for the purpose of authorising the election of an additional coroner above the number of those who had been theretofore customarily elected in such county, to order that such county should be divided into such and so many districts, for the purposes of that Act, as to Her Majesty, with the advice aforesaid, should seem expedient, and to give a name to each of such districts, and to determine at what place within such district the court for the election of coroner for such district should be holden, as thereinafter provided; and every such Order should be published in the London Gazette:

And whereas the justices for the county of Somerset, in general or quarter session assembled, at the city of Wells, in and for the said county, on the twenty-fifth day of March one thousand eight hundred and forty-five, did resolve, that a humble petition should be presented to Her Majesty, praying for such division or alteration as hereinafter mentioned, due notice thereof having been given to all the coroners of the said county; and two of the justices attending such general or quarter session did thereby certify, under their hands and seals, that such petition was agreed to:

And whereas the said justices have since presented their petition to Her Majesty, representing,

That great inequality exists in the three districts into which the said county is practically though not legally divided, as regards the duties of the three coroners for the whole of such county; that one of such coroners now holds inquests over almost the whole of one of the two divisions of the county (as divided by the Reform Act), viz. the western division; that that coroner is seventy-eight years of age, and has availed himself of the power given him to appoint a deputy; that Her Majesty's petitioners have had due regard to the size and nature of each proposed district, the number of the inhabitants, the nature of their employments, and such other circumstances as appear to Her Majesty's petitioners fit to be considered in carrying into execution the provisions of the statute of the seventh and eighth years of Her Majesty's reign, chapter 92, and have sent to the said several coroners, as directed by the said Act, notices of the intention of taking this into consideration at the present session, and have also sent with such notices copies of the map or plan hereinafter mentioned; and the said coroners have, on the twenty-fourth of March instant, appeared before the justices of the peace composing the finance committee of the said county, and acquiesced in the proposed division:

And, therefore, praying that, for the reasons hereinbefore set forth, the said county may be divided into three districts, as shewn and delineated on the map or plan thereunto annexed, describing the several proposed districts, and the boundaries thereof; and that Her Majesty will be graciously pleased to give to district No. 1, the name of the Northern District; to district No. 2, the name of the South Eastern District; and to district No. 3, the name of the Western District; and also to determine, that the place within each district, at which the court for the election of coroner for such district shall be hereafter held, shall be as follows; that is to say, at Axbridge, for district No. 1; at Castle Carey, for district No. 2; and at Taunton, for district No. 3.

To the QUEEN's Most Excellent Majesty.

The humble Address of the Treasurer and Masters of the Bench, and the Barristers and Fellows of the Society of Lincoln's-inn.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE, your Majesty's faithful subjects, the Treasurer and Masters of the Bench, and the Barristers and Fellows of the Society of Lincoln's-inn, entreat your Majesty's permission humbly to testify the joy and gratitude inspired by your August Presence.

The Edifice in which, under such happy auspices, we are, for the first time, assembled, is adorned with memorials of many servants of the Crown, eminent for their talents, their learning, and their integrity. To the services, as recorded in history, of these our distinguished Predecessors we appeal, in all humility, for our justification in aspiring to receive your Majesty beneath this roof.

Two Centuries have nearly passed away since the Inns of Court were honoured by the presence of the reigning Prince; we cannot, therefore, but feel deeply grateful for a mark, so conspicuous, of your Majesty's condescension, and of your gracious regard for the Profession of the Law.

It is our earnest desire to deserve this proof of your Majesty's favour, by a zealous execution of the trust reposed in us, to guard and maintain the dignity of the Bar of England.

In our endeavours to this end, we shall but follow in the course which it has been your Majesty's Royal pleasure to pursue. Signally has your Majesty fostered the independence of the Bar, and the purity of the Bench, by distributing the honours, which you have graciously bestowed on the Profession among the members of all parties in the State.

Permit us also, Most Gracious Sovereign, to offer to your Majesty our sincere congratulations on the great amendments of the Law which have been effected since your Majesty's Accession to the Throne, throughout many portions of your vast empire.

The pure glory of these labours will be dear to your Majesty's royal heart, for it arises from the welfare of your subjects.

That your Majesty may long reign over a loyal, prosperous, and contented people, is our devout and fervent prayer to Almighty God.

J. A. F. Simpkinson, Treasurer.

To which Address Her Majesty was graciously pleased to make the following reply:

" I receive, with cordial satisfaction, this dutiful Address.

" My beloved Consort and I have accepted with pleasure, your invitation ; for I recognize the services rendered to the Crown, at various periods of our history, by distinguished members of this Society ; and I gladly testify my respect for the Profession of the Law, by which I am aided in administering Justice, and in maintaining the prerogatives of the Crown and the rights of my People.

" I congratulate you on the completion of this noble Edifice. It is worthy the memory of your Predecessors, and of the station which you occupy in connection with the Bar of England.

" I sincerely hope, that learning long may flourish, and that virtue and talent may rise to eminence within these walls."

At the Court at Windsor, the 20th day of November 1845,

PRESENT,

The QUEEN's Most Excellent Majesty in Council.

WHEREAS by an Act, passed in the session of Parliament held in the eighth and ninth years of Her present Majesty, intituled "An "Act for the regulation of the trade of the "British possessions abroad," it is enacted, that there should be raised, levied, and collected, and paid to Her Majesty, the several duties of Customs, as the same are respectively set forth in figures in the table of duties thereinafter contained, upon goods, wares, and merchandize, not being the growth, production, or manufacture of the United Kingdom, or of any of the British possessions in America, or of the Mauritius, or of any of the British possessions within the limits of the East India Company's charter, or the produce of any of the British fisheries imported or brought into any of the British possessions in America, or the Mauritius, by sea or inland carriage or navigation:

"And whereas divers articles are enumerated in the said table of duties, and certain duties therein mentioned are therein made payable upon such articles respectively, and the duty of four per centum ad volorem is made payable on articles not enumerated, except such are comprised or referred to in the table of exemptions subjoined to the said table of duties :

And whereas it is also enacted by the said Act now in recital, that it shall be lawful for Her Majesty, by and with the advice of Her Privy Council, by any Order and Orders in Council to be issued from time to time, to direct that any article described in such Order, being an article chargeable under the said Act as an enumerated article with a duty of four per centum ad valorem, shall be added to the list of exemptions thereinbefore set forth, and shall be free from such duty; and that, from and after the time mentioned in such Order for the commencement of such exemption, not being less than six months from the date thereof, such exemption shall take effect, and such article shall thenceforth, while such Order shall continue in force, be free from such duty accordingly; and that any such Order may at any time be suspended or revoked by Her Majesty, with the advice of Her Privy Council, by any other Order in Council:

And whereas pot and pearl ashes, and specimens illustrative of natural history, are not enumerated in the said table of duties, neither are they comprized or referred to in the said table of exemptions:

And whereas Her Majesty, with the advice of Her Privy Council, hath deemed it expedient that pot and pearl ashes, and specimens illustrative of natural history, should be exempted from the duties imposed by the said recited Act:

Now, therefore, under and by virtue of the said Act of Parliament, and in exercise of the powers thereby in Her Majesty in Council in that behalf vested, Her Majesty, by and with the advice of Her Privy Council, doth order, and it is hereby ordered accordingly, that pot and pearl ashes, and specimens illustrative of natural history, shall be, and the same are hereby, added to the list of exemptions in the said recited Act set forth; and that, from and after the first day of June one thousand eight hundred and forty-six, pot and pearl ashes, and specimens illustrative of natural history, shall be free from such duty, as fully and effectually as if such articles had been inserted and enumerated in the said table at the time of passing the said Act:

At the Court at Windsor, the 20th day of November 1845,

PRESENT,

The QUEEN's Most Excellent Majesty in Council.

WHEREAS by an Act, passed in the session of Parliament holden in the eighth and ninth years of the reign of Her present Majesty, intituled "An Act to regulate the trade of the "British possessions abroad," after reciting, that, by the law of navigation, foreign ships are permitted to import into any of the British possessions in Asia, Africa, or America, from the countries to which they belong, goods, the produce of those countries, and to export goods from such possessions to be carried to any foreign country whatever; and that it is expedient that such permission should be subject to certain conditions, it is enacted, that the privileges thereby granted to foreign ships shall be limited to the ships of those countries which, having colonial possessions, shall grant the like privileges of trading with those possessions to British ships, or which, not having colonial possessions, shall place the commerce and navigation of this country, and of its possessions abroad, upon the footing of the most favoured nation, unless Her Majesty, by Her Order in Council, shall in any case deem it expedient to grant the whole or any of such privileges to the ships of any foreign country, although the conditions aforesaid shall not in all respects be fulfilled by such foreign country:

And whereas the said conditions have not in all respects been fulfilled by the Government of France; but, nevertheless, Her Majesty and divers of Her royal predecessors have, from time to time, by divers Orders in Council, granted certain of the privileges aforesaid to the ships of France, in respect of certain of Her Majesty's possessions, in such Orders particularly mentioned:

And whereas the said Orders in Council do not, nor doth any of them, extend to Her Majesty's island of Saint Helena:

And whereas it is expedient that the same privileges should be granted to French vessels, trading with the said island, as to French vessels trading with such other of Her Majesty's possessions as aforesaid:

Now, therefore, Her Majesty, by and with the advice of Her Privy Council, doth order, and it is hereby ordered, that it shall be lawful for French ships to import into the said island of Saint Helena, from the dominions of France, such goods, being the produce of those dominions, and to export from the said island to any foreign country such goods as they are permitted to import or to export, respectively, into or from Her Majesty's possessions in the West Indies and America, under or by virtue of a certain Order in Council, issued by His late Majesty King George the Fourth, and bearing date the first day of June one thousand eight hundred and twenty-six, or any other Order now in force :

And the Right Honourable the Lords Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury, and the Right Honourable Lord Stanley, one of Her Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, are to give the necessary directions herein as to them respectively may appertain.

Wm. L. Bathurst.

This Gazette likewise contains the approval of Her Majesty in Council to the following scheme, from Her Majesty's Commissioners for building new churches, viz.

Given under my hand the 22d day of November 1845,

CHARLES SHAW LEFEVRE, Speaker.

Whereas by an Act, passed in the 8th and 9th Victoria, cap. 94, intituled " An Act for regulating the trade of the isle of Man," we, being three of the Lords Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury, do hereby, in pursuance of the powers vested in us by the said Act, order and declare, that all or any articles legally importable into the isle of Man, and not enumerated in the table annexed to the said Act, and upon which the duty of £15 per cent. is thereby imposed, shall and may, from and after the passing of the said before-mentioned Act, be imported into the isle of Man duty free, so long as this our order, or any part thereof, affecting such articles shall continue in force; and we do further direct, that this our order be published in the London and Dublin Gazettes, in accordance with the provisions of the 3d section of the said Act.

If their Lordships will be good enough to refer to a paragraph towards the conclusion of the memorandum addressed to me by Mr. Brooke, under date the 3d July 1845, they will find a statement of two natives of India having been detained as slaves in the capital itself for two years, continuing under captivity in the presence of the British men of war, and from which slavery they made their escape on board the Honourable East India Company's steam vessel Phlegethon on her last visit there, only a few weeks since.

Under such a glaring disregard of the understanding entered into with the Sultan in respect of slavery, I felt, in conjunction with Mr. Brooke, that it would not be right to permit this transaction to pass without, in the first instance, holding the Sultan responsible for it, and Paugerau Bedurudeen having stated that Paugerau Usop was the real offender, everything should be kept quiet until my arrival at the capital; on the following day I went with the steamers to visit this singular capital—or what is called city—being a miserable collection of bamboo houses, elevated upon piles, surrounded by water, except at low tide, when under many of them you perceive the bare mud; the poverty of the buildings being singularly and inexplicably contrasted with the manners, dresses, and deportment of the higher orders.

I visited the Sultan with all due ceremony, and, by previous understanding with the Rajah Muda Hassien and his brother Bedurudeen, the visit was entirely complimentary, but after my departure on the same evening, and following morning, Mr. Brooke had several meetings with those persons. The Sultan stated he was quite ready to punish Paugerau Usop if I would afford my assistance in accomplishing it. It appeared that Usop (I suppose from conscious guilt) concluded he was the object sought, and had, on the day of my visit, told the Sultan that if called on to answer on the score of piracy, he would defend himself to the last.

In answer to my address to the Sultan, I received the accompanying documents (Nos. 2 and 3), one calling for assistance, the other for personal protection; a subaltern's guard was accordingly sent to the Sultan's residence; and it was settled, through Mr. Brooke, that the Sultan should call on Usop to present himself before him, unarmed, to answer for his conduct, and if he did not do so, his residence was to be attacked.

The Sultan's commands were accordingly conveyed to him, which not having been replied to within a given time, a shot was fired over his house, to which he promptly replied by a salvo from his battery, when a fire in earnest was opened upon him, and a few minutes sent him and all his adherents off to the woods, and the marines landed and took possession of his house, where, among other things, twenty handsome brass guns, of various calibre, were found, and one hundred and fifty half barrels of gunpowder.

The guns the Sultan requested me to keep; but reserving two of the smallest, for the purpose of sale, to produce funds to remunerate the two natives (now serving on board the Pluto) for their four years' captivity, I sent the remainder to the Sultan, with a message, through Mr. Brooke, to say, that we never accepted any remuneration for the protection of friends who were disposed faithfully to carry out the engagements they had entered into.

I learn from Mr. Brooke, who has been in communication with Muda Hassin and his brother since the flight of Usop and destruction of his property, that the occurrence has given great confidence to the well-disposed party, and that it will equally depress Usop's adherents in the town, of whom there were not a few; and I look for a double result from his punishment, namely, that while it assures the legitimate Government of all proper support, they will equally perceive the rod that hangs over them should they be found wanting in their own conduct.

I have, &c.

To the Secretary of the Admiralty, London.

Agincourt, at Sea, in lat. 8° 14′ N. long. 116° 43′ E. 26th August 1845.

SIR,

FOLLOWING out the intentions referred to in my dispatch from Laboan (No. 142), of the 13th of August, I left that anchorage on the 15th instant, and reached the northern end of Borneo on the 17th.

Having heard from various sources that Seriff Housman had, for the last twelvemonth, been making preparations against a probable attack, that he had strongly fortified one of the branches of a river in Malloodoo-bay, and was of a character, and supported by resolute adherents, not likely to yield without a sharp struggle. I made corresponding arrangements for attack, and having anchored the Agincourt and frigates in a safe position, in the hitherto little known fine bay of Malloodoo, I hoisted my flag on board the Vixen steam sloop, and, attended by the Cruizer and Wolverine brigs, and the Honourable East India Company's steam vessels Pluto and Nemesis, proceeded to the head of the bay, carrying deep water until within a couple of miles of the river's mouth, when the Vixen and brigs were obliged to anchor, and not far within them the Pluto, drawing only six feet, grounded on the bar.

It being hopeless to attempt to make a further progress in these small vessels, I directed Captain Talbot, assisted by Acting Captain Lyster, and Commanders Fanshawe and Clifford, to take command of the gun and other boats of the squadron, filled with as many marines and small arm men as they could with propriety carry, and proceed up that branch of the Malloodoo, stated by the pilots to be in occupation of Seriff Housman; and should their statements prove correct, to ascertain, as far as possible, the strength of his position and amount of force, either attacking the Seriff on his refusal to surrender, should he feel equal to the enterprize, or falling back to some suitable position, while he communicated with me in the event of his not considering his force sufficient to guarantee success.

The accompanying letter and report from Captain Talbot will convey to their Lordships a gratifying narration of his success, and prove the soundness of my judgment in selecting this officer for the important duty confided to him.

Their Lordships will not fail to unite with me in deep regret at the heavy loss we have incurred; but when the great strength of the position is referred to, and that the force was for one hour exposed to the steadily sustained fire of eleven heavy guns, within little more than 200 yards of our own position, it is rather astonishing than otherwise, and a source of thankfulness, the casualties were not more numerous.

Their Lordships will not fail to notice the valorous conduct of Acting Captain Lyster, and those immediately under him, upon this occasion; who, undaunted by the fire with which they were assailed, steadily worked at a remarkably well constructed boom for above an hour before he could effect an opening, and in the success of whose exertions mainly depended the advance of the force, who, in ignorance of any other manner of approaching the forts than by the river, could not be brought forward until this object was accomplished; and while I feel persuaded their Lordships will be fully alive to such meritorious conduct, I deeply lament that death has removed from their Lordships' power of reward that promising young officer, Mr. Leonard Gibbard, mate of the Wolverine, who bravely worked by Captain Lyster's side; the wound he received on that occasion having, unfortunately for his country and his friends, proved fatal on the following day.

I sent up the same evening a small detatchment of gun boats, under Commander Giffard, to burn such prahnes and boats, and parts of the forts or town as might have remained not completely destroyed, and to render unserviceable any iron guns, and to bring down with him any brass ordnance that might be there.

Two or three chiefs are known to have fallen on the present occasion, and there is every reason to believe that Seriff Housman, so formidable to all the neighbouring country, and whose valour was worthy of a better cause, is among the number slain; at least I have certain information that he was carried off badly wounded; but, whether dead or living, I consider his influence to be entirely annihilated, and his confederacy with various piratical chiefs in the Archipelago broken up, for his power as much depended upon his being the encourager of other piratical tribes, and their supplier with goods in exchange for slaves, as in the force naturally at his command. I may add that, among many other articles of European workmanship, a bell belonging to the ship Guilbelen Ludwig, of Bremen, was found in the town. This vessel was supposed to have been wrecked on the Garsi Isles, about October or November last, but nothing has been heard of the crew.

I have, &c.
THOS. COCHRANE, Rear Admiral,
Commander in Chief.

To the Secretary of the Admiralty, London.

Her Majesty's Steam Vessel Vixen, Malloodoo-Bay, 20th August 1845.

SIR,

I HAVE to report the proceedings of the expedition you did me the honour to place under my command.

Your Excellency's flag having been flying on board the Vixen, you are aware of its progress to the anchorage at the head of the Malloodoo-bay; I commence, therefore, the details from that period.

The force, consisting of five hundred and thirty seamen and marines (the details of which I annex), conveyed in twenty-four boats, of which nine were gun boats, left the Vixen at three P.M. on the 18th instant, and, after some little difficulty in hitting on the channel, was anchored off the mouth of the Sonoy-basar a little after sun set. Here we were joined by a boat from the Pluto, carrying Agincourt's field piece.

The tide serving, about eleven P. M., weighed, and, passing the bar, anchored within it; at daylight, on the 19th, we proceeded up the river in two divisions; after proceeding about two miles, I was informed by the Brune pilots we were nearing the town. I therefore went ahead with Captain Lyster to reconnoitre. On coming to an abrupt turn in the river, about three miles higher, we found ourselves suddenly in front of the position, which consisted of two stockaded forts, of eight and three guns each, commanding the reach. About two hundred yards below the forts was a boom across the river, apparently well constructed. The forts appeared to us to stand on a tongue of land, from which we were separated by the river, which at that point divided into two branches, and the pilots declared such to be the case, that turning to the right we observed was still further defended by a floating battery. There appeared, therefore, to be no means of carrying the position but by forcing the boom.

On rejoining the force, arrangements were made for the gun boats to advance to the boom, to cover the party appointed to cut through it, the remainder of the force to hold themselves to act when ordered. We had approached the boom to within one hundred yards, when a flag of truce was observed to be coming towards us. Conceiving the object of the enemy was merely to gain time, I sent back a message, "that unless Seriff Osman came to me in half an hour, I should open fire." This being conveyed to the fort, the flag returned with an offer to admit me with two boats, that I might visit the Seriff. I declined, and the flag retired; the moment it was clear of the line of fire, the three-gun battery opened, and the cannonade became general on both sides.

The boom was composed of two large-sided trees, each supporting a chain cable, equal to ten or twelve inches, firmly bolted and secured round the trunk of a tree on each bank; a cut in the right bank allowed a canoe to pass, but was impassable to any of our boats.

One hour nearly elapsed before we could in any way remove the obstacle, during which time the fire of the enemy was well sustained, all the guns being laid for the boom. I need hardly mention it was briskly returned from our side, both from guns and small arms; and some rockets, well thrown by a party which had been landed on the right bank, appeared to produce considerable effect.

As soon as the passage was open for the smaller boats, they passed through rapidly, and embarked the marines from the large boats across the boom;

ultimately the whole force passed through. The enemy immediately quitted their defences, and fled in every direction. The marines and small arm men having cleared the town, the marines were formed as a covering party, and parties of seamen were pushed up both banks of the river, but met with no opposition; at the same time preparations were made for spiking the guns and destroying the stockades and town; in a short time these were completed, and the whole in flames, as well as three large proas, and several smaller ones.

Being anxious to save the tide, and conceiving that the object contemplated by your Excellency was accomplished, I ordered the force to be re-embarked, and proceeded down the river to the Vixen.

When your Excellency considers the strength of the enemy's position, and the obvious state of preparation in which we found him, you will be prepared to learn that this service has not been performed without considerable loss. I regret very much to state it at six killed and fifteen wounded; the loss on the part of the enemy was, unquestionably, very great, but the surrounding jungle afforded the enemy the means of carrying away their dead, according to their custom in such cases. Nevertheless, some of those left on the field we recognized as persons of considerable influence.

Whilst I record my admiration of the gallantry and steadiness of the whole force under a galling fire, sustained for a long period, I must particularly mention Captain Lyster, who directed his attention to the boom, and by whose personal exertions that obstacle was overcome.

M. Gilbard, mate of Her Majesty's ship Wolverine, was, I grieve to say, mortally wounded by an early shot, when gallantly working at the boom with an axe.

I beg leave to point out to your Excellency the conduct of Mr. Williamson, Malay interpreter to Mr. Brooke; he was with me during the attack, and was exposed to the whole of the fire.

I have, &c.
